Victorians 4,000-Strong Go Back to School

Showing her pupil what can be done with a little knowledge of ceramics is Miss Ina Tait, night instructor at one of the night school courses which opened at Oak Bay Junior High School last night. Mrs. J. M. Phillips, 1122 Francis, was one of about 4,000 Victoria people who are going back to school to take advantage of the interesting courses offered. (Colonist photos by Ted Harris.)

Wondering just where to begin on what she eventually hopes will be a neatly-tailored dress is Shirley Mackie, 3344 Browning. She started a night school course on dressmaking and tailoring at Oak Bay Junior High School last night.

Elderly Pensioner Beaten, Robbed; Police Hold Man

Second Suspect Sought

City police last night arrested one man suspected of beating an elderly pensioner and stealing his pension money in a downtown alley yesterday and at press time were pressing a search for the second attacker.

Daniel McIsaac, 76, of 482 Foster, was jumped by two men in broad daylight about 3 p.m. yesterday behind 834 Johnson.

He was left lying brutally beaten on the ground, the fourth person in Greater Victoria to be attacked in the past week.

$50 MISSING

The elderly man told police that he was missing $50, all that was left of his monthly pension cheque.

He received a deep cut under the left eye, bruises and a possible fractured jaw.

Early last Tuesday two milkmen were attacked and beaten in a senseless attack by four young hoodlums at the intersection of Obed and Harriet. One man has been charged as a result of the attack.

GIRL BEATEN

The following night Rona McCulloch, 17, was beaten by two youths within 100 yards of her home at 850 Richmond. One juvenile is awaiting trial in juvenile court Wednesday.

Police were called to the scene of yesterday's beating at 3:15 p.m. by A. M. Porter of Cord's Piston Rings, 834 Johnson. He said an elderly man had been beaten up outside his shop.

Constables Harry Hoshal and Fred Acreman rushed to the scene in the police ambulance and found the victim had been taken to Stockers Warehouse nearby by William McMurchie of 1602 Edgeware.

KNOWS THEM

The officers took the pensioner to hospital.

Mr. McIsaac told police he thought he could identify his attackers.

Rests After Beating

Resting in Royal Jubilee Hospital last night following a brutal beating was 76-year-old Daniel McIsaac, 482 Foster. Police had apprehended one of the suspected attackers at press time and were on the trail of a second.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Lord Beaverbrook Warns of:

Free Trade Trick

LORD BEAVERBROOK
. . . dodging the issue

HALIFAX (CP) — Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born London newspaper publisher, said Monday night the British government's free trade proposal is "a trick."

Commenting in an interview on the proposal made during the weekend by British Chancellor of the Exchequer Peter Thorneycroft at the Commonwealth finance ministers conference at Mont Tremblant, Que., Lord Beaverbrook said:

TO HALT CRITICS

"The purpose of the proposal is to disarm the criticism of our empire-minded men and women that empire trade must not be sacrificed to a European free trade movement.

"Now the British government will say that the rejection of empire free trade by Canada leaves no alternative but European free trade."

SEVERE BLOW

Lord Beaverbrook left no doubt he believes a European free trade system would be a boon to West Germany's already booming industry and a severe blow to Britain.

"European free trade means just this: what Germany could not wrest from Britain in war is about to be surrendered to her in peace by a band of tired and weary Tory ministers who will shortly be defeated any way."

PRAISES JOHN D.

Praising a new Anglo-Canadian trade policy envisioned by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Lord Beaverbrook said:

"The proposal of Diefenbaker to promote the diversion of trade to Britain is a magnificent gesture and should be accepted gratefully by Britain without qualification.

"Instead the British government is dodging the issue in order to get away with their European game."

French Crisis

Vote Topples Government

BOURGES MAUNOURY

PARIS (CP) — The French National Assembly toppled the government of Maurice Bourges Maunoury last night by rejecting his plan for home rule in Algeria.

The three and a half-month-old administration fell before the right-wing opposition in a vote of confidence on the plan. The vote was 279 to 253.

Defeat of the moderate premier plunged France into its 23rd post-war political crisis. Bourges Maunoury took over as premier last June 12 with the smallest majority of any premier in 11 years.

The deputies voted against his plan for a modified plan of self-rule for rebellious Algeria despite his last-minute plea for unity on the issue.

Youth Death Rampage

JACKSON, Mich. (UP) — Two youths Monday killed a state trooper, seriously injured another, kidnapped a woman, impersonated federal agents and stole at least two cars.

The two-man crime wave set off one of the biggest manhunts in Michigan state police history.

The boys, described as 19 to 20, forced Mrs. Gordon Lecrinier of Jackson to stop, told her they were FBI agents and stole her car. She was found unharmed.

A policeman was shot in the chest and shoulder as he approached the car and the men sped off in their separate cars.

Chamber Chief

Expected to be elected president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting to be held this morning is Ralph Carr Pybus, president and general manager of Commonwealth Construction Company Ltd. in Vancouver. See stories, pictures on Pages 8, 9 and 10.

Fast Shot True

WESTBANK, B.C. (CP) — A fast runnin', fast shootin' hunter turned in his tracks Monday and felled a charging black bear.

Frank E. Jones, who usually hunts birds, was grouse hunting at nearby Smith Creek, stopped for a rest and a bear started after him.

Frank started running and loading his light .410-calibre shotgun.

A slug above the eye stopped the bear less than 12 feet from Mr. Jones.

Cut Blamed On 'Pique'

VANCOUVER (CP) — A unanimous statement from Division 5 of the Burrard Liberal Association charged Monday that a feeling of pique led Premier Bennett to a decision to reduce the number of civil servants in B.C.

New Discovery Cheats Old Age

PARIS (Reuters) — Professor Leon Binet of the Necker Hospital here told the Academy of Sciences Monday that he has discovered an extract made from cattle embryos which retards the physical symptoms of old age.

He said he has found that certain patients injected with his formula recovered muscular power and the senile process known as softening of the brain was slowed considerably.

Children Die In Bus Crash

LOS ANGELES (UP) — A parochial school bus crashed yesterday through a guard rail at a dead-end street and plunged into a 25-foot ditch, killing two grammar school youngsters and injuring 18 others.

The bus was taking 35 to 40 children home from the All Saints' Parochial School in the Highland Park district and was travelling in East Los Angeles down a grade on Highbury Avenue when its brakes apparently failed.

Instead of stopping behind a high school bus which was discharging students at the sharp turn where the street came to a dead end, the second bus swerved past, struck the guard rail and went plummeting into the ditch.

"All you could see were children bleeding and crying," reported Richard Pugliese, 14, one of the students on the high school bus.

Youngsters Held in Slaying

'It Couldn't Be My Boy!'

SPOKANE (AP) — Two teen-aged pals who said they slipped out of the house at night while their parents slept to follow a secret life of crime are being held for the fatal shooting of a hobby shop owner.

"It couldn't possibly be my boy!" said a frantic mother. But the boy, a frail 13-year-old, told officers he was along with his friend when the man was shot.

His neighborhood pal, aged 15, pulled the trigger that killed Manley C. Martin, 63, in a gun battle last Tuesday, the boys said in statements.

The boys said they had committed several burglaries in the last three months, slipping out of the house while their parents thought them in bed asleep for the night.

Sheriff William Reilly said they told this story:

Early last Tuesday morning they broke into Martin's shop, took a radio and drove away in a stolen car.

Martin, who lived with his wife in the back of his shop, was awakened by falling glass. He took a pistol and went out to investigate.

The boys had seen a model airplane and decided to go back and get it. They circled around the block and as they drove up, Martin, a partial cripple, fired three shots. The 15-year-old fired back with a .22 pistol. Martin fell dead.

Detective Walt King said the boys come from good homes, were friendly and well liked. They apparently had no need for the things they took.

Father and his helpers, when he can get them to work, are at their West Saanich Road jams and jellies stand. Hjalmer Forsberg, who does all the cooking, is helped by daughters Louise, on his left, and Harriet, on the right. —(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Jam Makes Friends

Roadside Chef Gets Fan Mail

By COURTNEY TOWER

Hjalmer Forsberg is a far cry from being a female impersonator, but you'd never guess that from his fan mail.

Witness, for instance, this little gem of an address on an envelope:

"To The Lady Who Makes The Most Beautiful Jam & Jelly . . . Display Stall,

East Side of West Saanich Road,

Between the Observatory & Brentwood Crossing,

Victoria, B.C."

NO ONE BELIEVES

"I get that all the time, because even after I tell them, no one really believes I make the jams and jellies we sell at our stand," Mr. Forsberg said.

That's the way it has gone since 1949, when Mr. Forsberg began making and selling jams and jellies from his home at 5983 West Saanich Road.

His is one of the many roadside stands dotting the Saanich Peninsula and providing a tourist's delight. These tourists, by the way, who sign his visitors' book come from such countries as South Africa, Dominican Republic, Alaska, Hawaii, Venezuela, Mexico, Scotland, Sweden and India.

DOCTOR'S REQUEST

The uniquely addressed letter above was written by a doctor in Courtenay who didn't know the name and address, but wanted more of the product.

Mr. Forsberg makes all the jams, jellies and honey, cooking nearly every day of each week. He also cooks the meals for his wife and five children. He's a school janitor too.

Mrs. Forsberg, by the way, is far from being idle. She teaches Grade 3 at the Brentwood School.

Hjalmer started cooking when he was in the air force during the Second World War and got to like the job. He got a job cooking on a tug boat. Mrs. Forsberg began preserving some of their large raspberry crop and "just for fun" started to sell the product.

"It went well, but she didn't have the time. I quit the boats and went janitoring at the school and started this and I've been doing it ever since," he said.

"I love it. It's more a hobby than anything else ... we certainly don't make much money from it—especially now that sugar has gone up about 40 per cent over what it was last year."

Mr. Forsberg said he never kept track of the amount of his sales, but between regular customers and passersby, he has a year round run of business.

He produced letters from all parts of the U.S. and Canada, the majority of them addressed to "Mrs. Forsberg."

Gaglardi Planning To Walk

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi Sunday "volunteered" to give up driving for a month as a result of his second speeding conviction of the year.

But his decision apparently wasn't "voluntary" at all. He was officially notified that his licence had been suspended for one month last Friday or Saturday by registered mail from the motor vehicle branch.

Mr. Gaglardi made his offer so there would be, in his words, no "accusations of favoritism."

But yesterday these facts came to light:

Decision to suspend the minister's licence was made Thursday by motor vehicle branch officials. The announcement was sent to the minister's home in Kamloops by registered mail.

On Sunday Mr. Gaglardi announced that no matter what the motor vehicle branch decided he would give up his licence for a month.

On Monday a letter from the minister notifying the motor vehicle branch that he would abide by the decision was received here.

The trouble began when Mr. Gaglardi was stopped by RCMP on a new stretch of highway outside Kamloops. Evidence was that he had been clocked at 85 to 100 miles an hour and that his excuse was that he'd been testing the curves.

He was convicted and fined $10 and $3 costs.

Mr. Gaglardi then said the two arresting officers had looked like "a couple of punks."

Said Mr. Gaglardi Sunday: "Though I was only doing 60 miles an hour, definitely not 85 as reported, I have broken the law and I'm ready to be punished."

He said he intended walking or taking the bus for the coming 30 days.

With curvaceous figure, blue eyes and honey blonde tresses, Canada's entrant in "Miss World" beauty contest in London, Judy Welch, is well equipped to be a Canadian goodwill ambassador. Winner of nine beauty crowns since 1957, including Miss Toronto crown of 1956, Judy, 21, leaves for England today. Later she will visit Paris.

Cancer Evidence Given 'Brushoff'

NEW YORK (UP) — Dr. David [illegible] Rutstein, professor of preventive medicine, Harvard, yesterday attacked Dr. Clarence Cook Little of the tobacco industry research committee for [illegible] ...ing off all the human evidence that cigaret smoking is a cause of lung cancer.

He scored Dr. Little for "objecting to a public health program to diminish lung cancer by urging a decrease in cigaret smoking," and said the research committee's policy was one of "blind opposition to any attempt at public health control of lung cancer."

He said "the evidence for an association between cigaret smoking and lung cancer is stronger than the evidence upon which small pox vaccination was based originally."

His attack was in the form of an "open letter" published by The Atlantic Monthly.

Dr. Rutstein challenged Dr. Little to use "your leadership" to set up "an experiment to answer the crucial question: 'Will a decrease in cigaret smoking result in a concomitant decrease in the death rate from lung cancer?'"

"I am optimistic enough to believe that a study could be set to answer this question," he added. "Volunteers could be randomly divided into two groups, [illegible] being urged to stop and the other to continue cigaret smoking."

"In the meantime, Dr. Little, is there really any [illegible] for your continuing to [illegible] ... lung cancer before we act to save human lives by recommending a decrease in cigaret smoking?"

"Eighteen studies in five countries show either that patients with lung cancer are predominantly cigaret smokers, or that cigaret smokers have more lung cancer than do non-smokers.

"Yet Dr. Little has dismissed these studies as 'the opinion [illegible]'."

Dr. Rutstein said, "What is wrong with a statistical study?" he demanded.

Moreover, he said, "the control of many human plagues in the past has depended solely on the kind of information as you have criticized as being only 'statistical.'"

No Shooting At Strangers

HALIFAX (CP) — Defence Minister Pearkes says Canada will defend her coasts, but sighting a strange submarine isn't a signal to start firing.

He spoke to reporters on his arrival here for a three-day inspection tour of east coast defences.

"Certainly we are not going to start dropping depth charges if a submarine is sighted, but we'll protect our coast, our merchant and fishing vessels if need be."

LIEUT. F. G. WOODROW
. . . seized, freed.

Victoria Mother Learns of Drama In Syrian Desert

A Victoria mother expressed relief last night that her army officer son was released unharmed with two other men after being "kidnapped" by Syrian troops while serving with the United Nations truce force in the Middle East.

Lieut. Frederick G. Woodrow, an Australian UN observer and an Israeli army lieutenant were held for eight hours yesterday before being released.

"I certainly am glad he was released," said Lieut. Woodrow's mother, Mrs. F. R. Woodrow, 865 Heywood. "You never know in that country what is going to happen."

HEARD WRONG

Mrs. Woodrow and her husband have lived here for two years. She said she first heard the news of her son's adventure over the radio.

"I didn't hear it properly," she said. "It came as a great shock."

According to Israeli officials the two observers and the lieutenant went out early yesterday to one of four observation posts within Israeli territory.

Shortly after 10 a.m., they said, armed Syrian raiders streamed across the border and converged on the post.

INTERVENTION

The three men in the post were seized and forced to return with the raiders to Syrian territory. They were released following intervention by Col. Byron Leary, acting chief-of-staff of the UN truce organization.

A spokesman for the UN truce observation headquarters in Jerusalem said the first report of the incident reached Leary from Damascus. It said the three had been "taken into custody." No explanation of the Syrian move has been made.

WITH ENGINEERS

Lieut. Woodrow, 26, a native of Moose Jaw, Sask., went to the Middle East with a unit of Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers in March.

He had visited Victoria in December of last year and in September, 1955, Mrs. Woodrow said.

A letter from her son arrived Monday, Mrs. Woodrow said.

'Fraud on Public,' Says Board

Doctors Fail in Long Struggle To Keep Kickbacks Tax-Free

Total of 22 in B.C. Got Optical Payoffs

VANCOUVER (CP)—The income tax appeal board has ruled that 22 Victoria and Vancouver doctors must pay tax on $390,000 in optical prescription kickbacks.

In a ruling handed down last Thursday by Cecil L. Snyder, assistant chairman of the tax appeal board, rebates from an optical company to doctors were termed "a fraud upon various members of the public."

Fifteen Vancouver doctors, one Victoria doctor and executives of the estates of two Vancouver doctors appealed against the revenue department's claim for income tax on a deal which extended over 10 years. Mr Snyder dismissed the appeals.

OUT OF COURT

The other doctors involved settled the claim out of court.

The deal was made in 1947 between Prescription Optical Co in Vancouver and Oculist Prescription in Victoria, both subsidiaries of Imperial Optical Co, Toronto.

Mr Snyder found that the kickback was "no less than $1.50 for each and every prescription sent in by the doctor."

Each doctor's reward, planned to be paid in 10 annual instalments during a 10-year period, was to be based on his past record to produce prescription business or in accordance with what he could be expected to produce in future.

"CAPITAL GAIN"

In their appeals the Vancouver doctors claimed that the kickback money was capital gain on sale of their shares in Prescription Optical Co in 1946. The Victoria doctors claimed the same in connection with Oculist Prescription Co.

The ruling, made public Monday night, said complications in the case dated back to 1924, when a group of eye specialists set up an incorporated business known as Prescription Optical Company Limited.

BASED ON BUSINESS

Number of shares a doctor was permitted to hold in the company generally was based on the number of prescriptions turned in to the company.

The judgment says that in 1931 Imperial Optical Company Limited, Toronto, bought out the doctors' company and in turn, agreed to pay to doctors who were members of Prescription Optical $4.50 for each and every prescription or repair.

"NOT AWARE"

"Of course the patient or customers who paid the full professional fee to the oculist or ophthalmologist for writing his or her prescription for eye glasses were not aware that the same oculist or ophthalmologist was also receiving a kickback from the manufacturer for not less than the sum of $4.50."

RULED ILLEGAL

But the arrangement ultimately came to public notice, the judgment says. In 1946 the British Columbia Medical Act was amended to make the practice illegal.

The doctors then reviewed their position, the judgment continues. All shares of Prescription Optical Company Limited were purchased by Standard Optical Company of Toronto, an affiliate or subsidiary of the Imperial Optical Company, for $320,000.

The judgment says the $320,000 was to be paid over at a rate of $32,000 a year for 10 years. It included "it would seem, the accumulated total of the $4.50 commissions then owing the doctors by Imperial Optical and totalling nearly $70,000 which could no longer be paid as rebates, kickbacks or commissions."

"A similar deal was made in Victoria, where the sale price was $70,000," the judgment adds.

NO DIFFICULTY

On reasons for the finding the judgment says:

"There is no difficulty in making a finding that this transaction or deal between the doctors and the Standard Optical Company Limited was not a bona fide sale of shares in the Prescription Optical Company Limited.

"What transpired was no more than an ingeniously contrived scheme to pay extra sums of money for a period of 10 years to the co-operating doctors and thus to assure a continuing rich volume of profitable business to the Toronto optical organizations whose representative and spokesman in British Columbia is Mr. Harry I. Boyaner (Imperial's west coast manager) and who was chief negotiator between these parties."

Crowned Thrice

It's easy to see why Sylvia Swayze has won three beauty crowns this year. The 20-year-old Welland beauty is shown being crowned Niagara Grape Queen of 1957 by last year's winner, Kay Henshaw, in St. Catharines, Ont. Sylvia previously won the Miss Welland and Niagara Blossom Queen titles.

City Plans 'Failing Miserably'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's community planners have failed miserably to meet many of the needs of the modern city, executive director George S. Mooney of the Canadian Federation of Mayors said Monday.

He told the opening session of the Community Planning Association of Canada national conference that problems of controlling the "explosive" growth of Canadian cities require bold imagination. At present they are examples of an uneven advance, he said.

"We have widened the main thoroughfares at public expense for the benefit of the community and by our failure to regulate their use we have allowed the automobile to crowd public transport almost off the streets.

"We have built pleasant suburban communities and left unattended the black and creeping decay of the city slums," Mr Mooney said.

No Ribbons For Service In Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the U.S. Army's 101st Airborne Division will get no ribbons to mark their role in enforcing the school integration order at Little Rock.

U.S. troops sometimes receive ribbons for special service as well as battles, but the army said Monday the work of the military in Arkansas will receive no such recognition.

'Don't Create Depression To Fight Us', Unions Warn

BRIGHTON, England (Reuters) — Powerful trade union leaders told the Conservative government Monday it is "playing a dangerous game" if it [illegible] deliberately creating unemployment.

They were speaking at the Labor party's annual conference which opened here with 1,500 delegates unanimously condemning government economic policies which have led to renewed financial austerity here.

W. J. Carron, president of the Amalgamated Engineering Union, said the government has capitulated to the demands of industrialists and financiers [illegible] unemployment in order to break the unions.

"That is a dangerous game to play ...," he said. "We would advise the government that the trade unions have not the slightest intention of permitting such policies to be effected. We as much as anyone desire industrial peace but if we are forced to, we can prove our point."

Frank Cousins, general secretary of the giant Transport and General Workers Union, accused Conservative spokesmen [illegible] the unions for the present financial crisis.

Supplies Heavy, Egg Prices Drop

Supplies greatly in excess of demand sent egg prices tumbling again in Victoria yesterday.

Price drop ranged from two to six cents a dozen.

Most severely hit were the imported Grade B eggs which were selling to the producer at 18 cents a dozen and at a wholesale level of 28 cents.

"The demand is so light that very few of these eggs are being brought into the province," said a distributor.

Grade A large eggs were down two cents a dozen at 39 cents to the producer and 51 cents wholesale, mediums were down four cents at 28 to producer and 38 cents wholesale and smalls were down two cents at 25 cents to producer and 28 cents wholesale.

Community Service

THE annual Community Chest campaign getting under way today, with combined charitable service budgets of $251,717 to fill, is the big drive of the year. It has 20 good talking points in the Greater Victoria area, related to the 20 individual organizations which it has now approved. Not one of them duplicates any other effort, and perhaps not one of them could be eliminated without direct loss resulting to Victorians as a whole. Although the cost this year shows a 14 per cent increase over last year's receipts, there is a budgeted reason for that. The solid base of the Community Chest is that it sponsors known, audited and dovetailed services in the community.

Commencing today, some 400 Community Chest volunteers will canvass firms and individuals in the city. This will be followed up by a two-day house-to-house canvass in the residential areas towards the middle of the month, with 1,400 solicitors also volunteering their services. The campaign has opened with advance donations of nearly $10,000, which is an encouraging start. If every citizen took that interest in the work of the Community Chest agencies the task of the canvassers would be an easy one. Experience has shown, however, that the work of these charitable organizations sometimes is not realized until the attention of the public has been drawn to it.

The desired fund of approximately a quarter-million dollars is a reasonable one in the light of the swift expansion of community needs in the Greater Victoria area. Chest agencies begin where governmental and municipal provisions leave off. They are concerned with individuals of almost every age and every degree of health and well-being; and provide a combined community response to conditions which must be relieved. The work of the Community Chest agencies is much what any charitable association would wish to do even in the smallest community. The Chest however operates over a semi-metropolitan field, and still keeps contact with the individual.

It is probable that most members of the public sense and appreciate the day-to-day active value of such remedial services on behalf of humanity. What is needed is a sharpening of that awareness into active participation. In a community of some 115,000 population there must of necessity be some "strangers." For the Community Chest and its 20 agencies, however, there can be none. Every individual counts.

Municipalities Ask for Trouble

MEMBER councils of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities may have made a rod for their own backs in the resolution on the subject of store closing regulations passed at the convention in Nelson for presentation to the provincial government. The convention would have been much better advised to let the motion offered by the executive committee stand. This requested the unqualified repeal of provincial laws relating to closing hours, which if approved by the legislature would leave it up to the individual retailers to decide when they would do business. Instead the convention adopted a modified motion asking repeal of provincial control and the transfer of regulatory powers to the municipal councils.

Did the delegates appreciate the endless hassle in which their respective councils would become involved if they were given authority? In Victoria—and no doubt the situation is much the same in other cities and towns of the province—it has never been possible to get the retailers as a whole to agree on anything. On the issue of weekly closing alone there are at least four opposing factions each wanting something different, and each packing a great deal of weight behind it.

These four groups comprise proponents of (a) a six-day shopping week, (b) a five-day week, (c) half-day closing and (d) no regulations at all. Each group so far has been able to muster support of only a minority of the merchants as a whole, which means that whatever the council did would incur the opposition of the majority—and a very large majority at that, for a bylaw meeting the wishes of one group would offend three others.

In any case it may be asked again what is the purpose of regulating hours of retail business, by the province or by a municipality? There is no longer any need for it as a protection for the employees. Regulation can only be interpreted, therefore, as interference with the rights of merchants to do business at hours best suiting the convenience of themselves and their customers.

Not Very Wise

AS a Chinese-Canadian Mr. Douglas Jung, the Conservative MP-elect for Vancouver Centre, may have private reasons for desiring to visit Red China. He is seemingly unaware of the delicacy of the situation should he find himself in difficulties in that country, however. Communist China is outside the bounds of Canadian diplomatic recognition. As a Canadian MP he could be an embarrassment to the government in event of unpleasant repercussions during such a visit.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker has made it plain that while Mr. Jung may do as he pleases with his personal life, he will be strictly on his own if he goes to Red China; he will do so at personal risk and in no sense will he represent the official life of Canada. Nevertheless this distinction could be lost to the Communist Chinese; they might see in Mr. Jung only an elected member of the federal Parliament and misconstrue both his presence and the purpose of his visit. It can be taken for granted that in any case they would make propaganda capital out of it.

It is apparent that the Vancouver Centre MP-elect is himself ready to capitalize on his new status. While stating that he intends to go as a private citizen—surely he did not expect to go in any other guise—he remarks that "the mere fact that I am a member of Parliament will of course give my visit a certain weight." He thus intends to take advantage of his official position even if ostensibly he would be on a private visit. He is either inconsiderate of the complications that could ensue or naive in his outlook.

Mr. Jung is a young man and perhaps inexperienced in political ways, hence probably his lack of caution. He is not yet sworn in as a Canadian MP and he would be better advised to prove himself as a member of Parliament before using that membership in a visit to a country not diplomatically acknowledged by Canada. As the first member of his race elected to a seat in Parliament he has a splendid opportunity ahead of him; it will be a pity if he prejudices his future by precipitate and immature action.

Interpreting the News:

European Trade Missions

By BERNARD KAPLAN

North American Newspaper Alliance

PARIS — The French are about to return to China "in force" for the first time since the Communist victory of 1949. The West Germans are not far behind.

With very little fanfare, the two countries are inaugurating a new and probably significant era of economic relations between China and the West.

A French mission now in Peiping has reported swift progress so far in negotiations with the Communist regime which are expected to lead not only to more trade but also to French participation in Chinese industrialization. Close on its heels, a West German delegation also has arrived in the Chinese capital. It is discussing similar objects.

The French finance ministry said that Franco-Chinese trade since the relaxation of export bans this year has doubled and can be expected to continue to expand. Until now, Chinese foreign trade has been about 85 per cent with the Soviet bloc. The French believe the Chinese would be pleased for a number of reasons to reduce Soviet trade to less than 50 per cent of the total.

There is no disguising the fact that the French and presumably the Germans are at least as anxious to do business as the Chinese Communists. As far as the French mission is concerned, it is very much a case of the Chinese sitting back and waiting for the sales pitch.

As their big selling point, the West German delegation has been emphasizing the large role which German engineers and technicians, many of them ex-officers of the Kaiser's army, played in the first Chinese industrializing period of the 1920's and early 1930's under Chiang Kai-Shek.

However, if the French were worried about German competition, they have found that the Peiping government apparently has no intention of encouraging or even allowing that kind of foreign, "capitalistic" rivalry over its internal development schemes. Instead, both Western delegations discovered that the Chinese had "reserved" for each different sectors of the nation's economy, at least for the purposes of the current discussions.

The French are talking about supplying equipment and possibly technicians to advance Chinese hydro-electric development and mining. In a similar vein, the Germans are dealing with the Chinese chemical and steel industries. Neither is being allowed to "poach" on the other's domains.

It is noteworthy that all of these industrial fields are ones which Soviet technology has dominated in China until the present.

The Chinese say they are ready and able to pay cash for most of their plant investment purchases abroad. This makes the Chinese market doubly attractive to the French, currently hard-pressed for foreign exchange.

Canadians and And Titles

By ERIC DOWNTON

OTTAWA—An old Canadian argument is being revived by the approaching visit to Ottawa of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip before the Royal pair go to the U.S. Should there be a renewal of the practice of bestowing British titles upon the Dominion's citizenry?

Should Canadians kneel before the Queen again at Buckingham Palace to receive the accolade of knighthood? Should they once more be considered eligible for the hereditary titles of peerage and baronetcy and the whole galaxy of lesser stars, orders and ribbons bestowed at the monarch's pleasure?

With one controversial exception, Canadian governments have eschewed the bestowal of titles on Canadians for almost 40 years. But despite a widespread belief otherwise, there has never been a Canadian "ban" on such title-giving.

At the end of the First World War the House of Commons here passed a resolution as a result of which the government "humbly begged" the Crown not to confer titles on Canadians.

In 1934, Conservative Prime Minister R. B. Bennett (who himself later took a viscountcy and went to live in England) argued that the 1919 no-title move had no binding validity. He maintained there was no constitutional obstacle preventing the Canadian government from "advising" the Crown that titles should be awarded to persons approved by the Dominion's administration. On his initiative Buckingham Palace bestowed a number of titles on Canadians during 1934.

It was not a popular step. The "no titles for Canadians" rule has been observed by all governments since.

* * *

Now advocates of a revival of honors lists are making the forthcoming royal visit a pretext for reopening their campaign.

Perhaps they are encouraged by the recorded statements of a number of Conservative Party politicians. The Conservatives were in the opposition for 22 long years, after the fall of pro-title Bennett, while a succession of Liberal Party administrations held office — until the surprise general election reversal this year.

During their two decades in opposition Conservative spokesmen, suggesting they were more loyal to the "mother country" than the Liberals, hinted at favoring the award of titles and honors to Canadians.

The independent Dominions of the British Commonwealth are divided on this matter of royally bequeathed titles. India, Pakistan and Ceylon, like Canada, do not accept them. Other Dominions still take such honors.

Older generation British-Canadians and postwar immigrants from the British Isles provide the main body of supporters for the "knighthoods for Canadians" school. The younger generation and Canadians of other racial origins appear to be either indifferent or opposed.

French Canadians, who comprise more than a quarter of the population, are traditionally against the award of British titles. They regard such things as evidence of "British imperialism."

Probably a majority of Canadians are against renewal of the practice of handing out hereditary titles—peerages and baronetcies. Feeling may not be so definite on knighthoods, which do not pass down from father to son.

Reports from Ottawa

"WE WILL not," said Prime Minister Diefenbaker, "be a party in any way to any bloc which prevents us from judging issues on their merits as we see them."

That was probably the most significant statement the prime minister made in his speech to the United Nations last week.

It appears to be nothing less than notice to London and Washington that the Conservative government at Ottawa intends to conserve that Canadian independence of judgment on foreign affairs which the Liberals exercised in the Suez Crisis a year ago.

It is the antithesis of the old Tory shibboleth of "Ready, aye, ready." It is the antithesis of the position taken by many Conservatives last year, including Sen John Haig, now the newest addition to the Diefenbaker cabinet.

"When the chips were down," opposition leader Haig told the Senate, "Canada should have stood foursquare with Britain and France."

* * *

Diefenbaker and other leading Conservatives in the Commons did not go that far. While they denounced the Liberals' "gratuitous condemnation" of Britain and France, they carefully kept off the ready-aye-ready limb. But some of them including Howard Green, now works minister, and Donald Fleming, now finance minister—left no doubt that they would have aligned Canada on Britain's side.

What Diefenbaker said in his carefully and cautiously worded speech of last Nov. 29 does not stand four square with what he said at the UN last week.

"I view the world situation as a perilous one," he told the Commons a year ago, "too dangerous to permit of our placing ourselves in the position of being judges of the action taken by Britain, France and Israel."

Now the prime minister has pledged that his government will judge foreign issues on their merits as the government sees them—issues which could include, presumably, even the action of Britain in another Suez.

* * *

The prime minister told the UN that the change of government at Ottawa "does not mean that there has been any change whatsoever in fundamental international principles or attitudes . . . Support of the UN is the cornerstone" of Canadian foreign policy. Commonwealth membership is "fundamental to our destiny"; NATO is "a major bulwark."

Maybe the Liberals would have listed NATO before the Commonwealth. But there is nothing in Diefenbaker's words to indicate that the Tory government will adhere to a Commonwealth bloc, or meekly follow Britain's lead in foreign affairs.

This represents, I believe, an important clarification of Conservative policy. But it should not occasion great surprise. Diefenbaker was never a Union Jack-waving Tory. And his selection of Dr. Sidney Smith as his foreign minister, a man who agreed "in the main" with the Liberals' position on Suez, indicates that Diefenbaker considers the ready-aye-ready sentiments of some of his colleagues as antiquated and unrealistic.

Lester Pearson, the Liberals' spokesman on foreign affairs, is certain to have some ironic comments to make in Parliament a few weeks hence, but they are not likely to embarrass Diefenbaker seriously. The prime minister could be embarrassed if he had to apply his newly stated policy to another Suez. Many of his followers would expect him to take Canada to Britain's side as a matter of course. But all intelligence from Britain indicates that the British believe one Suez in a generation is more than enough.

The Packsack

Rights of Man

By GREGORY CLARK

A COUPLE of years ago I was coming home from Texas by train. Before dinner I was sitting in the club car where the usual prosperous assemblage of American businessmen was gathering for a cocktail or snifter before proceeding to the diner.

I have forgotten now which state we were passing through; but it was in the upper tier of the southern mid-west; at any rate, one of the states where drinks can be sold on the club cars.

Just before the car was filled a party of three service men entered. Two were army or marine NCOs, one was a navy petty officer. They were all big, cool men, with that characteristic crew-cut, detached, leathery look of the American permanent force. The naval petty officer was a handsome, jet black negro. On all their tunics a nice array of service ribbons, possibly decorations, shone quietly.

The negro came in between his two companions. They found two chairs, and one of the army NCOs pleasantly asked a man sitting next if he would mind moving to a single chair across. Then the three sat down, the navy petty officer between his khaki comrades. It was a moment or two before I realized that a sudden tension had gripped the whole club car.

Conversation practically ceased. On faces across from me and around me I saw a strange expression, stiff, strained, uneasy. Where men were in groups, I detected a few glowers and could see them muttering. I realized I was witnessing a moment of the tragedy that involves vast areas of the United States.

There was no question, however, where the power and the authority lay. The two big men in khaki were not colonels or majors. They were senior NCOs. Their cool gaze swept the car. Their eyes met every eye. The negro petty officer was superb in his serenity, as he shared with his two khaki bodyguards (for such, in a way, they were) the easy, faintly smiling, faintly menacing declaration of the rights of man. In a moment or two, tension relaxed, conversation picked up, the waiter brought three beers, the slender rows of ribbon on the khaki and the navy blue glowed softly. With nothing more than a level eye, the service men had quelled the whole car.

This is one fleeting moment I remember now.

Canadian Notebook

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

YOUTH has been a problem ever since Cain and Abel. As we get older we doubtless become more self-righteous and critical but I find myself wondering more and more about the interests of Canadian youth. In Nanaimo I [illegible] young people on the street corners and in coffee shops, as in Victoria. They seem to have no problem in finding dimes to feed juke boxes as well as themselves and the eavesdropper finds it difficult to make sense of their conversation. The horizon seems to stretch no farther than the latest in rock 'n' roll, cars and, of course, girls or boys.

It seems to be a poor tribute to our elaborate and expensive system of education. Then I discovered that at Victoria High School it has become necessary to provide parking space for 80 automobiles not the property of the staff, but in the custody of pupils. I am assured from inquiries that the parking of pupils' cars at high schools is becoming a province-wide problem but that as yet it is a mere shadow of the American problem.

* * *

To a Briton at large it reflects a strange philosophy. It made me think of the times I have seen Eton boys pushing barrows containing their luggage up Thames Street in Windsor to the railway station at the end of the half (Etonian for term). The same boys will, in all probability, have father's Rolls Royce with liveried chauffeur waiting at their destination to take them home. It recalled the headmaster of Eton's statement that the school would be demolished as completely unsuitable for educational purposes by any county council busily engaged on building palaces for primary as well as grammar school children.

Eton, like most of Britain's public schools, works on the principle that hardship and endurance are part of the lesson of life, indeed that they are essential in the formation of character; that wealth is a trust and not an excuse for avoiding responsibilities or for being unwilling to accept rigorous discipline. It is all very old-fashioned stuff, of course, but fathers still go on paying the equivalent of $1 300 a year to make their boys suffer instead of sending them to an ultra modern county grammar school with all modern conveniences including, please note, central heating, free milk and 12 cent dinners.

Eton is an anachronism in the modern world no doubt, but surely not more so than pupils going to a free school driving their automobiles? A child deprived of the healthy exertion of getting to school under his or her own steam is missing something. Even the demand for school buses seems largely unnecessary. Less than 30 years ago children used to walk four and five miles to school and were the healthier for it. Apart from health and discipline, it is surely creating a snobocracy of ostentation?

I blame the parents and not the children, but I do not exclude the department of education from responsibility. They could at least refuse to provide parking space and allow the civic authorities to deal with any consequential street parking.

* * *

It is an extraordinary thing that the more things which are provided the less they seem to be appreciated. It seems as though the whole world is due for a course of instruction on doing without and some practical policy to implement it.

I was, for example, immensely impressed by a young gentleman in Nanaimo discussing with a coffee shop friend how he was going to raise the $2.50 day return fare from Nanaimo to Vancouver. The discussion was interrupted by two pauses whilst a dime was inserted in the juke box. A little later I saw the same young gentleman spending a quarter on an exceedingly doubtful American publication.

Somehow that seemed to reflect the problems of life. There was obviously no recognition at all that he had thrown away nearly one-fifth of the answer to the problem under discussion. I suspect that he had the idea that it was just as simple to hire someone for $2.50 as $2 — surely rather a deplorable outlook?

At the same time the problem must not be exaggerated. Obviously there are any number of young people prepared to work hard at uncongenial tasks to earn the money to provide for their tastes. It is unfortunate that the less responsible seem to be growing in number.

Squeamish Readers

In regards to these so-called "brutal front-page stories": I have been wondering just why these people bother to read any newspaper. If they don't approve of "brutal sights" on the front page, and prefer scenery and such, there are many women's magazines they may subscribe to. After all what is a newspaper published for?

Just because it's shocking and distasteful to a few persons I see no reason for ignoring it or putting it on a back page [illegible] many of us subscribers.

'More Dollars'

I have no disrespect for Chinese or any other race. But for asking a simple question in your paper on Sept. 22 I am classed by a person G. Yee on Sept. 28 as being a Hitler or Chiang Kai-shek, which I think is pretty rash.

Too bad to have to put in uncomplaining hours and depriving themselves of weekends and evenings, and the poor small man suffering so long. But the chief reason for them wanting to stay open so many hours (as everyone knows) is to take in more dollars.

Rubbishy Firewood

With reference to the letter by R. Avery on the subject of "Sharp Practice," I also have been victimized. The load of cedar I got is half rubbish. It must have been in the water for years, as most of it is covered with shells and barnacles, and so wet it will take about a year to dry.

Why Not Victoria?

The milk unions state that since Vancouver instituted skip-a-day deliveries housewives are buying milk from the grocery stores. They fail to give the real reason for the change in buying and that is the 2c less per quart that milk can be purchased for at these stores.

Cash-and-carry sales in Vancouver are growing by leaps and bounds, at an enormous saving to the hard-pressed consumer.

Why is Victoria denied cash-and-carry milk at the reduction?

Reign of Terror

Due to lack of discipline and proper correction it seems that teen-agers have established a virtual reign of terror. Offences like the two cowardly attacks of violence by youthful thugs last week prey on the nerves of the gentler sex especially, so that many are afraid to venture out at night.

Commissioner Hamilton has the right idea when he says "physical punishment is necessary to bring these hoodlums to their senses." The soft treatment hitherto handed out is no deterrent. While the biblical law of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" means that no punishment shall be given an offender greater than his crime, at the same time it provides for adequate punishment that will ensure a non-repetition of the offence.

The divine law is perfect justice, and supersedes anything ever devised by man. Accordingly, to make the punishment fit the crime, flogging would be the proper sentence, sufficiently severe to bring multiple abrasions as suffered by their victims.

Government Economy

Premier Bennett's five per cent staff cut and efficiency with economy campaign is long overdue. It will not be accomplished by laying-off a few employees in the lower brackets. Good men in government, if permitted, can save their wages ten times over, and on the other hand some in administrative positions [illegible] waste so much money that wages are mere peanuts in comparison.

A return to fundamentals is the only answer [illegible] show window dressing. I cannot see any logic in the RCMP arresting overloaded trucks on our highways when the Public Works Department deliberately uses an overloaded truck-trailer set up to test and find weak spots in the Trans-Canada Highway.

After a contract is let and the road is [illegible] what does it prove? Is it not common knowledge [illegible] that any surfaced road [illegible] as long as the base supporting [illegible] an asphalt evaluation crew with costly equipment [illegible] the road a five-year neglect of [illegible] culverts is sinking the base gravel [illegible] black top.

The department has been repeatedly informed about this [illegible] of ditch affecting [illegible] and numerous cross-overs, yet [illegible] that their own roads are under water [illegible] equally with the flooded residents [illegible] Mr. Gaglardi's suggestion that the taxpayers form a drainage committee at their own expense [illegible] to injury and shows a woeful ignorance [illegible].

No Comparison

[illegible] I. Thomas for his perceptive [illegible] remarks regarding Nanaimo [illegible] compare it with an English country [illegible] there is some topographical likeness [illegible] the intangibles of an old world atmosphere [illegible] and pervading unity with similar English [illegible] to a common heritage, one cannot recall [illegible] the kingdom that would remind one of the [illegible].

His reference to the up-Island centre as a miniature [illegible] is by no means factual, rather a caricature [illegible] the tallest seaside resorts in Britain, with the [illegible] Hampshire countryside and the New Forest at its [illegible].

The Olde England stuff has just about had it. Visiting Victoria first in 1904 one saw some slight resemblances, but what now remains is largely synthetic with one or two exceptions, maybe.

Maybe the only genuine "little bit" is at Beacon Hill and Windsor Parks in cricket season, where the weekend mostly elderly colony of connoisseurs foregather in deep content full of cricket lore and Wisden.

Kipling was its original proponent ("A little bit of England on the shores of the Pacific"); he pictured it as a veritable Shangri-la with aspects of many world beauty places including Bournemouth, but no mention of Nanaimo. His unrestrained eulogies were perhaps due in part to the excellent dining and wining accorded the poet of Empire by the local gentry.

... And So To Jail

HALIFAX, England (Reuters)—A burglar who kept a diary entitled "the achievements of twinkle-toes" was sentenced Monday to three years in jail for housebreaking and larceny.

The Crown said Ian Knutson, 38, told police after his arrest that he would make it easy for them and produce a small diary detailing his crimes—date, place and value of loot.

LONDON (CP) — George Drew, high commissioner in London, represented the Canadian government at the funeral of King Haakon of Norway in Oslo yesterday.

Albertans Flocking To Collect Dividends

EDMONTON (CP) — Roughly $8,000,000 in cash has been placed directly into the hands of about 400,000 persons in Alberta during the first month of the provincial government's gas and oil royalty dividend plan.

This represents more than two-thirds of the amount authorized by the government for the $20-a-person payments and while it may not indicate acceptance of the principle of the idea, it leaves little doubt the substance is being taken with few qualms.

To assess the impact of the payments on the province's economy or learn the uses to which the money is being put would be almost impossible. There have been no reports of large-scale increases in charitable donations.

There is little doubt that some of the money has gone back to the government through the liquor control board. Some also has gone into groceries that the recipients may not otherwise have been able to enjoy.

"This year I'll be able to buy my husband's birthday gift with my own money instead of his," said one woman as she collected her dividend at an Edmonton bank.

The dividend has not brought joy to all. A number of fraudulent cases have been revealed and two or three dozen persons so far have been sentenced to jail terms, usually of six months.

The attorney-general's department says it is investigating about 80 to 90 cases of possible fraud.

Premier Manning says fewer than 100 violations have been uncovered and considers this number out of the 400,000 payments made so far "is not a large-scale abuse." He also said most of the violations occurred in the initial rush when clerks handling payments were rushed off their feet.

Toronto Has Quietest Day Since 1954

TORONTO (CP) Amid the tightest trading in three years the stock market Monday drifted [illegible] lower. [illegible] 929,000 shares, lightest since Aug. 11, 1954, when 1,832,000 shares were traded.

Price changes were generally fractional among industrials but there were a few one and two point losses or declines.

McIntyre lost three points at 80 in senior golds. Uraniums and senior base metals eased.

Senior western oils lost fractional ground. Lower - priced stocks moved down to a 20-cent range. Central Explorers bucked the trend with a 32-cent gain at $2.87.

Oil Stocks Ease

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges ended a quiet day of business Monday with about two minus signs for every plus.

McColl Oil fell to a new low of 58. Pacific Petroleum dropped 1⅛ to 23⅝ and BA Oil ⅜ to 40⅛. But Imperial Oil gained ⅛ at 43½. Trans-Mountain Pipe Line lost 2 points at 76.

B.C. Power fell a point to 39. Other utility stocks were mixed fractionally.

In beverages Walker at 69⅛ gained 1⅛. Other movements were fractional losses. Base metals were mixed fractionally.

Tobaccos Stronger

NEW YORK (UP) Tobaccos stood out as the strong spots in a narrowly moving quiet stock market.

The cigarette producers rose fractions to more than a point. This was the only consistently strong group on the stock board.

Motors balanced off small gains and losses. Steels were steady to easier. Chemicals retreated fractions to a point with the leaders moving narrowly. Oils showed little change aside from a loss of more than a point in royal dutch and a rise of a point in seaboard.

MacMillan Sags

VANCOUVER — Stock prices continued to sag with MacMillan B. trading at a new low of $23⅛. Alberta Distillers was also down 20 cents at 1.30.

Mines were generally depressed. Quatsino shaded to 40 cents, down 8 cents, while Torjan lost 4 cents at 25 cents.

Oils weakened towards the close, Pacific Pete closing at $23¼ after trading a dollar higher. Peace River Petroleum was off 15 cents at 93 cents.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters) — The stock market continued unsettled with wage demands and uncertainty about the credit squeeze casting a shadow.

Industrials were dull but gilt-edgeds held quietly except the short-dated stocks, which eased. In foreigners, German and Japanese issues were firmer and Chinese stocks were dull.

North American issues drifted lower. Canadian Pacific tended easier after a firm opening.

Oils were erratic and dull and coppers quiet.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Best activity was in flax, where shippers and exporters made purchases and trade reports indicated small sales to Japan and the United Kingdom.

Fair hedges also appeared in flax, representing country elevators. Prices showed considerable irregularity and were inclined to be easier.

Oats and barley trade was mostly domestic, with oats receiving the most attention. Rye dealings were local.

Hesitation on U.S. markets was reflected at times.

Weekend export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom 565,000 bushels, the Netherlands 400,000, Australia 370,000 and West Germany 350,000.

Defended by Bank Chief

'Tight Money Essential'

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The government's tight money policy found a defender in A. J. Friesen, general manager of the Imperial Bank of Canada, making his first visit in that capacity to Victoria yesterday.

"We may not like tight [illegible] it is essential that inflation be contained."

Mr. Friesen said the declining purchasing power of the dollar was a continuing and serious problem.

"The 1940 dollar will purchase only 50 cents of goods today and if this drop of 3 per cent in its value continues it is going to be an extremely serious matter," he said.

The Imperial Bank executive said the tightening up policy was creating flat spots in the economy but that this was inevitable in as big a country as Canada, and the immediate problem was much less serious than Canada faced in the early 1930's.

"The country's future looks to me as bright as ever," he added.

Mr. Friesen was appointed general manager 15 months ago when Victoria-educated John Proctor stepped up to the presidency. He noted that five out of six leading executives in the Imperial Bank had been born in Western Canada.

"We have had a long association with the west," said Mr. Friesen. "The bank was only six years old when it opened an office in Winnipeg and the first manager travelled west by United States railway and completed the journey by steamer up the Red River."

The Calgary branch was also opened before the city had a railway, and the first manager of the Edmonton branch arrived with the second train to reach that city.

The Vancouver office was opened in 1895 and Victoria's in 1902.

[illegible] pioneers to the west, but we were pioneers ourselves,' he said.

With Mr. Friesen making his first tour of the bank's 122 western branches was S. E. Watts, assistant superintendent of western branches; Patrick R. Neely, the bank's manager of business development in B.C., and one of the B.C. directors, E. E. Buckerfield.

LONG TERMS POPULAR

Lots of financial experts raised their eyebrows when the B.C. Power Commission offered debentures with a 35 year maturity.

The opinion was that they might not prove attractive in the present market.

Acceptances of the new bonds however show that J. V. Fisher the B.C. government's financial adviser knew what he was doing.

The bonds were in four maturities and three-fifths of the total of $30,000,000 was taken up in the 35 years maturities.

The result of the open end [illegible] was announced yesterday [illegible] 1960 $2,896,000 [illegible] 15, 1961 $3,231,000, 5 per cent Sept. 1, 1982 $5,149,000, 5 per cent 1992 $18,724,000.

All the bonds gave a yield of 5.25 per cent to maturity.

Mr. Fisher said the long term bonds had proved extremely acceptable to institutions handling pension funds.

Date Milk Cartons Socreds Suggest

PORT ALBERNI—Date stamps for paper cartons of milk are being advocated in a resolution adopted by Alberni Constituency Social Credit Association at a recent meeting.

The resolution, along with others passed at the meeting, will be presented at the forthcoming provincial convention.

The stamping of milk cartons is urged to permit the consumer to check on the freshness of the product.

Alberni Fears Jobless Spell

JOHN SQUIRES

PORT ALBERNNI — Danger of widespread winter unemployment in this district was the subject of discussion at the annual meeting of Comox Alberni Federal CCF Association held in Port Alberni Sunday. Tom Barnett MP and John Squires [illegible]

The meeting passed a resolution urging both federal and provincial governments to accelerate such projects as the proposed new federal buildings in Campbell River and Port Alberni, the Alberni-Tofino highway, the North Island Highway to Port Hardy and Port Alice. New small boat harbors and work of the B.C. Power Commission.

The projects were suggested as a means of offsetting expected unemployment in this area where, according to the resolution, a number of major construction projects are now nearing completion and a prolonged season of good logging has resulted in a curtailment of activity in the woods.

Hans B Jonsson Alberni, was re-elected president. Other officers elected were: Bill Hawkes, Coombs vice-president. Mrs Mabel Jonsson Alberni secretary: Stan Jowsey, Arthur Anderson and Dave Smith, Alberni Bert Mason Hilliers Mrs M Vanhorne, Coombs and Fred Chapman, Courtenay, executive members. Alex Hyde Comox, was appointed auditor.

Driver Explains

Patent Pills, Quick Mixer

PORT ALBERNI A model-A Ford equipped to operate the cement mixer mounted on its chassis was the strange device involved in an impaired driving case in Port Alberni police court yesterday.

The driver Thomas Donovan, who according to prosecutor E. A. Dinsmore had been racing the amazing machine through city streets, pleaded guilty to the charge but qualified his plea with the explanation that a patent medicine which he has taken for 20 years deadened pain and sometimes dulled the mind. He said he had a hard time to convince people he was not intoxicated after taking the pills.

Mr. Dinsmore advised Mr Donovan to obtain competent medical opinion before taking his medicine again, especially if it were to be mixed the alcohol.

Mr. Donovan was fined $50 with $6.50 costs and the option of 30 days.

Bid to Swim Georgia Strait

Janice White Close

* * *

JANICE WHITE

NANAIMO (CP) Janice White 21-year-old long-distance swimmer failed by only 6½ nautical miles Sunday in her attempt to swim from here to Vancouver.

High winds and a changing tide forced her from the waters of Georgia Strait after covering 21½ nautical miles in 15 hours and 10 minutes.

She was two miles off Bowen Island and only 6½ nautical miles from Point Atkinson at the entrance to Vancouver's Burrard Inlet, when her coach-manager Gordon Phare, ordered her out of the water.

Miss White, who placed fifth in the mass swim across the Juan de Fuca Strait in August, said afterwards she was not tired when she was forced to quit.

She would have been the first to conquer the rolling strait had she succeeded.

The swim was sponsored by the Nanaimo and District Chamber of Commerce.

Private Game Preserves?

The Alberni Social Credit Association objected to a situation in which, it was contended, areas held under forest management licences have become private game preserves.

In a resolution adopted by the group it was stated that some people have access by reason of their employment, while others are barred from hunting and fishing in the areas.

Joe Morris Declares:

Don't Chain Worker!

* * *

JOE MORRIS

DUNCAN Joe Morris, president of the IWA in B.C. told a meeting of local 1-80 here Sunday it should not be the aim of union policy to "chain a worker to the chariot until he's 65, 60, or even 50."

"The aim should be to bring about conditions which would guarantee a satisfactory level of security to workers so they could retire at as early an age as possible," he said.

The quarterly meeting of the union was discussing the policy of some operations to enforce the retirement of workers at 65.

A form-letter canvass of operations in the local jurisdiction showed a diversity of policy on the part of companies.

Some companies do enforce retirement at 65, either compulsory or "by mutual consent", while others retain the employees on the staff at easier jobs. Many do not have a retirement policy.

"With the working man's retirement age being affected by the automation of industry, and by the shortening of his working life span through changing conditions," Mr Morris said, "the ideological situation would be that unions should aim at bringing about conditions which would make it possible for their members to retire at as early an age as possible.

"They should be able to enjoy the twilight of their life in security and comfort," Mr. Morris said.

The meeting adopted a motion that "local union is opposed to compulsory retirement against an employee's desire, and insists that we invoke the provisions of the master agreement for all employees regardless of his or her age."

The provision of the master agreement referred to was said to be the priority clause which guarantees a worker's position so long as he is qualified to hold it.

There was considerable discussion on a proposed merger of Local 1-80, with a membership 5,500, and Local 1-363 at Courtenay, with a minimum membership of 1,600.

The merger was sought by Courtenay because of the difficulty of giving sufficient time to the organizational demands of that union.

President George Smithe said that further discussions would be held with Courtenay local on the question and that the local membership would be kept informed of progress through special bulletins if that was necessary.

Short Run With Beer Costs Man $50 Fine

NANAIMO As he was sitting in a Nanaimo beer parlor, David Bowman saw his brother go by.

On an impulse, Bowman raced from the hotel into the arms of a policeman.

Bowman realized too late that in the heat of the moment he had forgotten to leave his beer glass on the table. He was charged with consuming beer in a public place and was fined the minimum, $50, in police court yesterday.

Wasn't There Any Water?

NANAIMO A bottle of beer as a thirst-quencher after a visit to Westwood Lake landed a 17-year-old Vancouver boy in expensive difficulties yesterday.

He was charged with possession of liquor, said he was "pretty thirsty" and that he had found the beer by the lake.

"Wasn't there any water around?" asked Magistrate Lionel Beevor Potts.

"I didn't see any," the youth replied.

Fine imposed was $10 in view of the boy missing a day's work to appear in Nanaimo court.

Tobacco President Says:

No 'Sneaky' Ads For This Firm

Offer Competing Brand And He'll Smoke It

E. C. WOOD
. . . pack a day

Canadians are not likely to not see "sneaky" TV and movie advertising of Imperial Tobacco Company products, president E. C. Wood disclosed in Victoria yesterday.

He was referring to a new United States invention, "subliminal" advertising where a message is flashed on a movie or TV screen at a very slightly different intensity than the picture. The message is seen too briefly to be noticed by viewers, but is still effective

SMARTEST WAY

"I don't think we will ever get to using it," he said. "I believe communications by word of mouth or the printed word have more impression. And if you are promoting something, the smartest way to do it is not to force it down the other person's throat."

And even if your advertising is subtle and the cigaret packet well designed, smokers still decide what they like to smoke by smoking, he said.

There is a narrow margin of blends which are popular with most Canadians and after smoking one particular brand for some time a smoker unconsciously either accepts or rejects the taste.

FEW CAN TELL

"Few smokers can tell the difference between individual cigarets if they smoke one of each, but after smoking a carton, smokers know whether or not they like that cigaret," he said. "But they may not know why they like or dislike the taste."

Canadian cigarets are made from Canadian-grown tobacco, mainly from Ontario, with some from Quebec and B.C. Blending in Virginia type cigarets consists of mixing leaves from the top of tobacco plants, the middle and the bottom.

Top leaves are strong and bottom leaves are mild. The proportion of the different leaves in the final mixture determines the taste and the future success of the brand, he said.

TEST-SMOKERS

Once a new blend has been decided, a special panel of employees in the factory test smokes the cigaret and passes opinions.

It usually takes two years for the company to know if a cigaret will be popular or should be discontinued.

A moderate smoker, 20 a day, Mr. Wood has been in the tobacco business since he was 17. Born in Virginia 57 years ago, he worked for tobacco companies in Virginia and New York and came to Canada in 1913.

WORKED WAY UP

He began with his company as an office clerk and worked his way to the top—he has been president of the company for seven years. He has been a Canadian citizen for 36 years.

If friends offer him one of the opposition's cigarets he accepts it. "Any merchant or manufacturer should know how good his opposition is," he says.

Tariff Wanted

Linen Threatens Canadian Cotton

Canadian cotton manufacturers are seriously threatened by the import of cheap linen goods from abroad, H. Roy Crabtree, vice-chairman of the executive council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said here yesterday.

"Our share of the Canadian market has dropped to 46 per cent this year," said Mr. Crabtree, president of the Woods Manufacturing Company in Montreal.

"In 1956 we had a 52 per cent share of the market and between 1929 and 1939 our average share was 78 per cent."

For that reason, he said, Canadian cotton manufacturers have appealed to the federal government to raise the tariff on imported textiles.

"Most of the competition comes from Japan and India but we also have to contend with imports from the United Kingdom.

"There is already a low tariff on these imports but wage rates in Canada are high and unless the tariff is raised, we shall have to contend with a very serious situation before long."

Wrangling Failed To Ruin Appetites

Despite adverse publicity about the wrangling over the City of Victoria dinner to visiting delegates, the Crystal Garden was filled with guests Sunday. Some members of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, host to the convention, said they felt ashamed at the wrangling.

A plug for Victoria was given at the dinner by Mayor Percy Scurrah, who itemized the reasons why Victoria is an ideal location for light industries.

'It's Time Canada Took a Breather'

Now is the time for Canada to take stock of her economy, says Raymond Dupuis, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

"Our progress as a nation is indicated by the fact that more than $48,000,000,000 have been invested in capital goods since 1945," he said here Sunday.

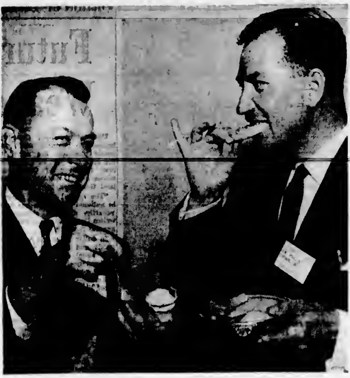
Canada needs a period of adjustment to balance her economy following the post-war boom, he said.

Mr Dupuis is president of Dupuis Freres, large Montreal department store and mail order house.

"I am confident of the buoyancy of the Canadian economy," he said. "We may have some ups and downs but the general trade picture is bright and by 1960 we should have adjusted ourselves to the new conditions."

ARAB REPUBLIC

The independent Arab republic of Syria has 4,000,000 population living in a 70,000-square mile area.



Crumpet Curtain was crashed by the east when Toronto Board of Trade general manager Jim Wakelin gingerly chomped into his first English sinker with an elegantly extended little finger. Guarding against after-effects is Arnold Webb, Victoria chamber secretary-manager, who whips a bi-carb into readiness. — (Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Crumpet Curtain Still Uncrashed

Delegates ignored the theme of their convention, "Crashing the Crumpet Curtain," judging by the results of afternoon tea at their hotel—only 10 orders of two crumpets each were served, the usual number.

* * *

Overheard at the Sunday dinner when YMCA swimmers and personnel from HMCS Naden put on an aquacade was this remark from the wife of a Montreal delegate: "I never imagined a Chamber of Commerce could turn out so many fine swimmers." Topping it yesterday evening was the comment of a Jaycee hovering on the sidelines: "She should have been here when the mass swim was on."

* * *

High tribute to delegates came from one of the staff of the Empress who has seen conventions come and go at the hotel. "I think they are a very nice bunch of people," she said. "So far they have been very quiet."

* * *

Governing body of the convention is a 50-man board of directors, which includes the president, two national vice-presidents, a chairman and two vice-chairmen of the executive council, treasurers, one vice-president from each province, provincial directors and two representatives of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. G. Fitzpatrick Dunn of Victoria is the B.C. vice-president.

* * *

Feature of the program of social events is a number of cartoons from a Vancouver newspaper, lampooning Victoria. Leading cartoon deals with the Jaycee mass swim attempts on Juan de Fuca Strait, and the second appropriately makes light of the search for a Canadian flag, to be discussed at a closed policy session today.

* * *

Entertainment provided for the visitors and their wives includes a fall fashion show; 2½-hour cruises in HMCS Jonquiere and St. Therese, a tour of Royal Roads; golf; fishing, conducted tours of the legislative buildings, provincial museum, Helmcken House and Thunderbird Park; a tour of the Butchart Gardens; a square dance display; tricks by Victoria magician Carl Hemeon, and an open house at the Olde England Inn.

Here's the Vault Plainly Marked

A group of visiting chamber delegates was amused and amazed at one of the signs on the sidewalk on Broad, near View. Inside an area neatly marked out for excavation so the B.C. Electric can bury power lines is the word "vault."

The marking is right outside Canada Trust Company's new building.

Election Tops Heavy List Of Activities

Canadian Chamber of Commerce shifts its business sessions to the Crystal Garden today for reports and election of officers for the coming year.

Second day of the 28th annual convention is crammed with business and social events, drawing to a close at the provincial government dinner, with Premier W. A. C. Bennett as speaker.

A unique feature for the guests is a 2½-hour cruise in Juan de Fuca Strait in the frigates HMCS Jonquiere and HMCS Ste. Therese.

For other guests, B.C. Telephone Co. will be host for a tour of Royal Roads.

During the morning business session, Leonard Hynes, chairman of the Canadian chamber's labor relations committee, will act as chairman for a panel discussion on "Productivity — Weapon Against Inflation."

Keynote speaker at luncheon in the Empress ballroom will be Canadian chamber president Raymond Dupuis, whose address will be "Productivity—Key to Prosperity."

At 6.30 p.m., a reception will be sponsored by Island Tug and Barge Ltd. in the hotel's Georgian lounge.

Entertainment at the provincial government dinner will be provided by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The Empress ballroom, decked with lamp-posts and flower baskets, and with walls covered with cartoons depicting Victoria's "old world" types, was the scene yesterday morning of the opening of the businessmen's parliament.

More than 700 representatives from all over Canada were welcomed by Victoria's chamber president, Hugh R. Stephen.

As Mr. Stephen took part in the opening ceremonies along with Raymond Dupuis, president of the Canadian Chamber from Montreal, Archbishop H. E. Sexton, and Douglas A. Fisher, president of the Canadian Junior Chamber proceedings in the ballroom were shown on television screens in other parts of the hotel.

Graduates Receive Certificates

Certificates of merit were presented Monday to 10 graduates of the Canadian Institute for Board and Chamber Secretaries.

The awards were presented by president Raymond Dupuis of Montreal.

The 1957 graduates are: William J. Duignan, Toronto, assistant director, department of travel and publicity; Donald M. McClymont, Ottawa, manager, Ottawa Board of Trade; Andre Corneiller, Montreal, Quebec manager, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce; Keith Nettleton, New Westminster, manager, New Westminster Board of Trade; Anne Drbilk, Montreal, Montreal Board of Trade; Mayes Mackenzie, Truro, N.S., secretary-treasurer, Truro Board of Trade; Austin Jelbert, Timmins, Ont., secretary-manager, Porcupine Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Olive H. Smith, Saint John, N.B., Saint John Board of Trade; Miss Dianne Ross, Sarnia, Ont., Sarnia Chamber of Commerce, and A. N. Wright, Port Burwell, Ont.

THRIVING AREA

Yukon Laughs Off Offer of Marriage

Bennett Proposal To Join Forces Fails to Impress

The Yukon likes being engaged to British Columbia and thoroughly enjoys the courtship, but is in no hurry to tie the knot, Yukon ambassador Rolf Hougen said yesterday.

Mr. Hougen, who is in Victoria representing Whitehorse Board of Trade at the Canadian Chamber of Commerce convention carried an unofficial message from Yukon commissioner F. H. Collins to Premier Bennett rejecting proposals by Mr. Bennett that B.C. should extend its borders to include the Yukon.

"Our immediate reaction in the Yukon when Mr. Bennett first made his proposal was to treat it in a light vein and we have done so ever since," he said. "Our counter-proposal is that the Yukon can extend its border southward to include the northern part of B.C."

On the way to the convention Mr. Hougen travelled part way with Commissioner Collins who gave him a message for Mr. Bennett. The message was:

"The commissioner has followed with interest the premier's press reports of his interest in including the Yukon with B.C. The commissioner of the territory has found that courtship very invigorating, interesting and enjoyable and the Yukon is not only closely related with B.C. economically, but socially as well.

NO HONEYMOON

"In other words, we are engaged and that state will continue but so far as any proposals re marriage the answer is NO."

In his reply Mr. Bennett pointed out that when Yukon residents look across the border and see a family paying, perhaps $30 in taxes and receiving $28 back from the government they might want to move into the province.

He also mentioned that the Yukon has the second highest birth rate in Canada and said all the "productive people" might also be influenced to move to B.C. because of the free hospitalization.

Ambassador Hougen at 28 is the owner of a Whitehorse department store, president of the local board of trade, and the proud father of two children.

On his first visit to the warm climate of Victoria, Mr. Hougen has caught a cold.

Jaycees Working For 'Canadianism'

The promotion of Canadianism, "making ourselves more aware of the shaping of this great country in which we live," was urged here by Douglas A. Fisher of Aurora, Ont., president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada.

Addressing the 28th annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, he said it was with this thought in mind of moulding "a generation of men desirous of a true Canadian spirit" that the junior chamber began last July to prepare for Canada's centennial in 1967.

Hiawatha Welcome

'You Shall Enter All Our Wigwams'

Hugh R. Stephen, newly elected president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, won the biggest applause of the opening day for his welcoming address.

His closing quotation from Longfellow's Hiawatha:

"All our town in peace awaits you
All our doors stand open for you
You shall enter all our wigwams
For the heart's right hand we give you
It is well for us O Brothers,
That you come so far to see us."

scored a tremendous hit.

* * *

At Canadian Chamber of Commerce meetings there is normally an immediate translation device to keep the proceedings completely bi-lingual.

Raymond Dupuis, French-speaking president of the chamber said that on this occasion no such service was being used as it would have involved the movement of technicians and equipment from eastern Canada to do the job.

Instead, portions of the speeches at the opening ceremonies were given by the speakers in two languages.

* * *

Special attraction for chamber delegates this afternoon is a trip on the naval frigate Jonquiere. Only 150 delegates can be taken, and many are going to be disappointed. The lucky 150 were informed yesterday that unless they confirmed the engagement by first thing this morning, their places would be given to others on the waiting list.

Chamber Stresses

Future Uncertainty Weakening Markets

Uncertainty about Canada's immediate business and economic prospects are noted in the annual report of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce whose annual meeting is being held this week in Victoria.

"The annual rate of growth in national production has temporarily, at least, slackened," writes Don L. Morrell, chamber general manager.

In dollar value the output of goods and services will probably equal or exceed the 1956 performance, but making allowance for higher prices, the physical volume of production may show little or no gain.

WEAK SPOTS SHOW

Momentum built up in the past two years is still evident in non-residential construction, service and distributive trades, mining and selected manufacturing industries.

But there are weak spots. House building, logging and lumbering and some manufacturing industries are well below recent peaks.

The uncertainties of the immediate future are the weakening of the export markets for important Canadian commodities and a decline in the prices of many basic materials.

In addition cautious inventory policy in Canada and the United States is causing many plants to step down production.

Another indication of the temporary lull in Canada's fast economic growth is the fact that for the first time in several years the labor force is rising faster than the availability of new jobs.

The chamber report says that the government's action in making $150,000,000 available to the home construction industry should help this sagging part of the economy well into 1958.

Despite this, however, inflationary pressures are still at work and the demand for credit and capital remains strong.

The chamber however, warns the government that the danger of the Bank of Canada's tight money policy is that if it [illegible] applied longer than necessary it could take some of the dynamism out of the economy and [illegible]

Three-Way Tie for Lead As Gorge Held to Draw

Gorge Hotel, Canadian Scottish [illegible] and defending champion Heaneys all share first place in the Victoria and District Football League as a result of weekend games while Victors Kickers and Butler Brothers are still pointless.

Upset result of the weekend was lowly placed Heaneys' 3-3 deadlock with Gorge on Sunday at Topaz Avenue Park. Both Butlers and Kickers continued their losing ways. Butlers [illegible] before Punjab United 6-1, and the new entry going down to a 4-2 defeat at the hands of Esquimalt at Central Park.

Heaneys grabbed an early lead on Tony Chapp's goal only to trail 2-1 at half-time on two late goals by Charlie Constable. Constable completed his hat-trick after 10 minutes of the second session for a 3-1 Gorge lead.

However Frank Greeley reduced the deficit when he netted from the penalty spot and Stu Walker fired the final goal with two minutes remaining to earn Heaneys the valuable point.

COULDN'T MATCH PACE

Kickers overwhelmed the Dockers in the opening minutes of their match but failed to keep up the pace and as a result they were trailing 3-2 at the half. Kickers were unable to penetrate the strong Esquimalt defence in the second half and the winners added the final goal.

Keith Todd, Len Potter and Dave Wakelyn counted for Esquimalt in the first half and George Paul scored in the second. Dick Nettlestyne netted twice for the Kickers.

A slow-moving Butlers side took an early lead against Punjab [illegible] the winners scored twice through George Brown for a 2-1 lead at half-time, and piled on the pressure in the second half.

Francis Johnny, Chris Braun and Bill Braun with two were the Punjab scorers.

Next games: Sunday, 2 p.m.: Royal Roads vs. Mayo Timbermen, Macdonald Park; Oak Bay vs. Venture, HMCS Naden field.

The surprising Mayo Timbermen [illegible] top of the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League standings Sunday after pulling one of the biggest upsets in the history of the league.

Timbermen downed HMCS Venture Cadets, 7-1, at Naden field, the first time a civilian team has ever beaten a service club since the formation of the league. The win, second in a row for Timbermen, put them two points ahead of Royal Roads which crushed Oak Bay 53-6, at Macdonald Park.

Timbermen, who showed a [illegible] attack and [illegible] great line play, won the game with three minutes left. Quarterback Ross Fitzgerald scored on a keeper play around left end from eight yards out. Dick Saunders converted.

Venture got its only point on a second quarter rouge.

Miss Thriftway Wrecked by Big Wave; Leger Named to Pilot Montreal Royals

ROGER LEGER
. . . to coach Royals

Miss Thriftway, Seattle-owned hydroplane which captured the coveted Gold Cup the last two years and was tied for second place in the national standings, hit a big wave and disintegrated Sunday in an elimination heat for the Governor's Cup race at Madison, Ind.

Pilot Bill Muncey of Seattle escaped with only a bruised shoulder and was rescued from the water by a driver of one of the hydros competing in the elimination event. Fate of Miss Thriftway was not immediately known although it's likely that attempts will be made to patch her up.

Hawaii Kai III piloted by Jack Regas of Seattle won the Governor's Cup to take a commanding lead in the national hydroplane standings. The Seattle hydro previously won the President's Cup and Silver Cup events this year.

Colorful Roger Leger, well remembered by Victoria hockey fans when he guided the Cougars to their only Western Hockey League championship in the 1950-51 campaign, was signed yesterday to coach Montreal Royals, the No. 1 farm club of the Montreal Canadiens.

The 38-year-old former defensive star who coached the Shawinigan Falls Cataracts the past three seasons and piloted the Cougars for two seasons, succeeds the retiring Elmer Lach at the helm of the Royals.

A tireless worker and inspiring leader on the ice, Leger brought Shawinigan Falls two Quebec Hockey League championships in his three-year stay and also guided the club to the Edinburgh Trophy.

BOBBY BACK: Pepperpot Bobby Bragan, who was dropped as manager of Pittsburgh Pirates in mid-season, has bounced back into the major leagues as new manager of the Cleveland Indians. The fiery Bragan replaces a bitterly disappointed Kerby Farrell, whose release was announced Sunday at the end of the season that saw the highly-rated Indians finish in sixth place . . . Bob Scheffing yesterday signed a one-year contract to manage the Chicago Cubs again next season . . . Fred Hutchinson, the manager who steered St. Louis Cardinals into second place in the National League, also signed a one-year contract yesterday, for an undisclosed salary increase . . . Baltimore Orioles Sunday asked waivers on pitcher Dizzy Trout and Eddie Robinson for purposes of outright release . . . Clyde Sukeforth, a former catcher with Brooklyn Dodgers, retired as coach of Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday and Tommy Henrich quit a similar job with New York Giants.

SIGN CHORLEY: Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League yesterday signed right winger Elliott Chorley, who scored 29 goals and drew 29 assists for Brandon Regals last season . . . Althea Gibson won the Pacific Coast women's tennis championship yesterday with a 6-4, 6-3 victory over Louise Brough. Sven Davidson took the men's title by defeating Vic Seixas, 7-5, 0-6, 6-1, 6-4 . . . Montreal Canadiens announced yesterday that goalie Gerry McNeil has signed a two-year contract to play with Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League . . . The devastating Denver Bears, farm club of the New York Yankees, trounced Buffalo Bisons, 8-1, Sunday to win the Little World Series four games to one . . . The Colorado boxing commission has refused to sanction a 10-round heavyweight bout between Nino Valdes and Bob Baker, because "Baker is washed up and should have quit years ago."

HEWITT QUITS: Foster Hewitt announced Sunday that he is quitting the Saturday night National Hockey League Maple Leaf Gardens that made his voice the best known in Canadian radio since 1922. His son Bill, 25, will take over . . . Detroit Red Wings brought sweater number 6, formerly that of Red Wing great Larrie Aurie, out of retirement yesterday to be worn by his nephew Cummy Burton, rightwinger with Edmonton Flyers last season . . . Defenceman Hugh Bolton, said to be miffed at the contract offered him by Toronto Maple Leafs, packed up and left training camp Saturday . . . Whitby Dunlops took a 4-0 beating from Cleveland Barons in an exhibition hockey game last night . . . American ace Jack Kramer beat Ken Rosewall of Australia, 3-6, 8-6, 6-2 in the opening match of a professional tennis tour in Italy Sunday . . . Lew Hoad downed Pancho Segura 4-6, 6-0, 6-4 . . . Switzerland will not send a team to this year's world hockey championships in Oslo, Norway, because of a shortage of good young players in the country.

Club Continues Coachless

Mitchell Quits Vampires; Charges Lack of Interest

Ray Mitchell has resigned as coach of Mayo Vampires, charging that "the interest isn't there anymore," and as of last night the Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League club has no one to run it.

Mitchell, who has coached the club since it was formed in 1949, made official last night what rumor has had in the offing for several days.

"Too many of the guys are not that interested in playing football anyway," Mitchell stated. "They don't want to come out and produce."

"Don't get me wrong now, there are 10 or 12 boys who really want to play. But the rest of them have had everything handed to them on a silver platter and still think we should come around and transport them to the field to practice."

However, indications were that the club will play out its schedule this season if only to keep the league going. A league must have three teams in order to be eligible for provincial and Canadian playdowns.

There is also the possibility that Freddy French, who coached Oak Bay Drakes for the first part of last season, will return to the league as Vampires' new coach.

Vampires, scheduled to play Oak Bay Drakes at Macdonald park Saturday afternoon, have not won a game since the opener of the 1955 season, but Mitchell says this has nothing to do with his decision.

"I can take loss after loss and come up smiling, but I can't take some of the stuff that's gone on this season."

"Things like Navy claiming we shouldn't use Jim Baldwin because he's in the Navy and they should have a prior claim to him. He's played with our club since 1952, and all of a sudden they have a prior claim."

Mitchell did leave one door open.

"Some of the boys have been with me a long time, and I wouldn't leave them in the lurch. If they can get no one else, I may go to the games, but I won't attend any practices or have anything else to do with the running of the club."

"There won't be any next year, either. Next year I may find myself a midget division team to work with. I won't need any pros either. All I'll want is guys who want to play football."

'That's Silly'

'Choke-Up' Charge Angers Haney; Yanks Undecided About Cripples

NEW YORK — Milwaukee Braves arrived here yesterday for the World Series and manager Fred Haney promptly got into a hassle with a reporter.

As Haney stepped from a plane a newsman asked him if he thought the Braves would "choke up" in the series. This, of course, was in reference to charges last year that the Braves let down when the pressure was on in the closing stages of the race.

"That's silly," Haney replied angrily. "What the hell's the matter with you? What kind of a question is that? If you try to get in our clubhouse I'll kick you out!"

Asked how he felt about the odds favoring the New York Yankees when the classic gets under way Wednesday, Haney answered:

"I hope they are favored because when we win we'll get more credit."

The Braves had left Milwaukee with the cheers of 150,000 home folks ringing in their ears. Haney promised the crowds that the Braves would "truly make Milwaukee the home of baseball and the world champions we won't let you down."

NO SURPRISE

As expected, Haney named named lefthander Warren (21-11) Spahn to pitch Wednesday's opener, while Casey Stengel has named Whitey (11-5) Ford as the Yankee starter.

Meanwhile the Yankees' two question-mark cripples, Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron, were still uncertain whether or not they would be able to start Wednesday.

Mantle said his left leg is still bothering him. Batting right-handed, as he would against Spahn, this would provide no serious difficulty, but might handicap his fielding.

Skowron, muscular first baseman who has missed the last 13 games because of a strained back, was swinging freely yesterday and said his back didn't bother him in infield work. However, he did say that he felt pain when he jogged in the outfield.

Doubts about the two stars caused Stengel to name only five sure starters: right fielder Hank Bauer, shortstop Gil McDougald, catcher Yogi Berra, third baseman Andy Carey and Ford.

Convert Miss Costly to Esks; Lions Earn Tie on Late Rally

Edmonton Eskimos outplayed Winnipeg Blue Bombers last night but a missed convert on their first touchdown cost the [illegible] defeat as a record Winnipeg crowd of 20,248 saw their team move to within two points of the Western Interprovincial Football Union lead.

Bombers have a game in hand and what may be the season's most important game is the rematch at Edmonton on Saturday.

Saskatchewan	10	[illegible]	7	1	203	271	5
B.C. Lions	10	1	8	1	115	242	3

Last night's results: Edmonton 27 at Winnipeg 28; Saskatchewan 21, B.C. Lions 21 at Vancouver.

Next games Saturday: Winnipeg at Edmonton, Saskatchewan at Calgary.

In last night's other game B.C. Lions dealt playoff hopes of the Saskatchewan Roughriders a serious blow by coming from behind to snatch a 21-21 tie.

Result left Riders five points behind the third-place Calgary Stampeders, who have a game in hand. The two clubs meet at Calgary Saturday in a "must" game for the Riders.

Kenny Ploen, All-American quarterback at University of Iowa last season was the star of the game at Winnipeg. Ploen dazzled fans with his mixture of passing and running plays and got plenty of help from Gerry James and Buddy Lewis, two line runners. And Buddy Leake grabbed a share of the honors by converting all four touchdowns to provide the winning point.

STATISTICS FAVOR ESKS

Just the same the Eskimos had everything but the score in their favor. They made 26 first downs to 13 for the Bombers and piled up a total of 421 yards to 311 for the winners.

Ploen completed nine of 12 passes while Don Getty and Jackie Parker completed 10 of 14 forward pass attempts for Edmonton.

Johnny Bright, Normie Kwong and Parker as usual carried the load for Eskimos on running plays while Frankie Anderson was a standout on defence.

Bombers opened with a rush and had a 14-0 lead before the game was 11 minutes old. They took only five plays to get their first score, James completing the march with a seven-yard dash around left end.

Six minutes later, James ran for 11 yards and Ploen completed a 33-yard pass play to Ernie Pitts for the touchdown.

Eskimos rush right back in the second quarter, crashing [illegible] touchdowns to Bright and [illegible] Kwong. Joe Mobra missed the convert on the first score and it turned out to be the difference.

But the Bombers, barely ahead at 14-13, rallied. James carried for 32 yards then Ploen threw a long pass to Lewis in the end zone just before half time. Winnipeg was right back in the second minute of the third quarter. Lewis ran the kickoff back 76 yards to the Edmonton 40-yard line. James carried 12 yards, then Ploen passed to Frank Gilliam for the fourth Winnipeg touchdown.

It was barely enough. Eskimos pushed over their third touchdown in a hurry, Bright going over the last eight yards. But they couldn't score again [illegible] game, when Parker caught a touchdown pass from Getty.

In between Bombers stopped the Eskimos on the six-yard line and Ploen intercepted a pass and a wide field-goal attempt out of the end zone to prevent what would have been the tying point.

The game was costly to both clubs, who have been hard hit by injuries to their star backs. Bombers, already without Bob McNamara and Bob Davenport, learned after the game that Leake had suffered a shoulder separation.

Edmonton, who have Rollie Miles and Ken Ludley on the injured list may have lost their starry newcomer Ken Hall. Hall's injuries were not immediately known but he had to leave the game late in the third quarter.

Riders grabbed a 21-0 lead by the halfway point of the second quarter but couldn't contain the late rush of the Lions.

Jack Hill scored in the first quarter after Harry Lunn had intercepted a B.C. pass on the Lions' eight-yard line.

In the second quarter speedy Sam Wesley took a 25-yard pass from Frank Tripucka and ran 50 more yards for a touchdown. Four minutes later Ken Carpenter took a pass from Tripucka for another score. Reg Whitehouse booted all three converts.

Lions got finally got started, By Bailey getting the ball into Rider territory for the first time with a 20-yard rush. Primo Villanueva went for 18 yards, passed to Bailey for 10 more, then ran to the seven-yard line. Bailey plunged to the one and Villanueva went over from there. Ted Hunt made the first of three successful conversions.

LIONS RALLY

Sparked by the plunging of Paul Cameron and Don Vicic, Lions marched almost the length of the field early in the fourth quarter, Vicic finally bulling over.

Five minutes later Maury Duncan combined with Jerry Janes for a 68-yard play. Janes took a bullet pass over the line and eluded all would-be tacklers. Hunt's conversion tied the score.

Tape Measure Kills Hole-in-One Record

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—A beauty of a shot believed to be the longest hole-in-one in the history of golf was deflowered Monday by the tape measure.

The measure proved that Rupert M. Morris' ace on the No. 5 hole at Hagerstown municipal golf course last Saturday travelled only 312 yards, instead of 387.

Frank G. Menke's encyclopedia of sports shows that William A. Green of New York shot a 340-yard hole-in-one at Rye, N.Y., Aug. 12, 1941. That's the longest listed.

The course score card gave as the distance for No. 5 as 387 yards. But course officials explained they had never remeasured the hole since closing the old back tee.

Morris' drive hit about 30 yards from the green and bounded into the cup.

Shoot for Dinners

Five members of the Port Alberni Curling Club have left the up-island centre for Alberta where they will hunt wild fowl to bring back to the club for its $20-a-plate dinner Nov. 8. Hoping to shoot their dinners are, left to right, Cec Hooper, Watson Shepherd, Ed Davis, Warren Paul and Tommy Thompson. — (Photo by Anton's Studios.)

Hamilton Looks Sharp in Workouts; Wilson Appears Set for Big Season

Victoria Cougars haven't got much in the way of quantity at their Nanaimo training camp, but after four workouts manager-coach Colin Kilburn is highly optimistic that two of his problems are going to be solved by a rookie and a youngish veteran attempting a comeback.

The players in question are goalkeeper Don Hamilton, a product of Victoria minor hockey ranks and Gordie Wilson, a 25-year-old centre who was rated the best at his position in the American Hockey League by many observers until a knee injury curtailed his effectiveness.

Hamilton, who has played for two seasons in the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League, is stepping into the big boots left when Marcel Pelletier was traded to Vancouver Canucks. It's a tough spot for the 20-year-old Victorian but more than one astute hockey observer has predicted a fine future for the rookie.

"I've been particularly impressed with Donnie's play during our workouts," Kilburn said last night.

Kilburn also stated that Wilson's injured knee appears to have completely healed and predicts the lanky pivot will have a good season.

If Wilson can come back to his past form, the Cougars will have three sound centremen. Wilson had 25 goals and 38 assists in 55 games for Hershey in the 1955-56 season. He tried it with the Cougars last season but his leg lacked strength and he had none of his old mobility.

Ed Dorohoy, who has 390 points from 511 Western Hockey League games and hustling Gordie Haworth, who had 17 goals and 35 assists for the Cougars last season, are the other centres.

11 PLAYERS IN CAMP

Playing personnel was scarce during the first two days of workouts, only 11 players turning out. Jack Wilson, young Victorian, gave Kilburn an even dozen but Wilson doesn't figure in plans this season. If he shows promise, the Cougars will try to place him with a junior club as they did with Hamilton and Gordie Matheson. Both are expected to play regularly this year.

In addition to Hamilton, Haworth, Dorohoy, Wilson and Kilburn, players now at the Nanaimo camp are Carl Kaiser, veteran defenceman Matheson, rookie forwards Larry Berg and Doug Kilburn, brother of the Cougar boss, rookie defenceman Bob Cowan and holdover rightwinger Doug Macauley.

Four players were late in reporting and Kilburn expects to get two forwards from Boston Bruins and to complete a deal for a veteran WHL winger.

MORE COMING

Joining the club today or tomorrow is Warren Bach, rookie defenceman, and Nelson Bulloch, holdover defenceman. Bach is in Victoria getting treatment for a knee injury incurred at the training camp of the Boston Bruins but is expected to be ready for skating by tomorrow at the latest. Bulloch is en route from the Boston camp.

Fred Brown, veteran rightwinger obtained with Kaiser in the deal for Pelletier, has been forced to remain at his St. Paul home because of the illness of his wife. He is expected to join the club on Sunday.

Earl Anshelm, spare goal keeper, has been detained at his Swift Current home by an attack of influenza, is expected to be on hand tomorrow.

No word has been received from Boston on the identity of the two forwards expected. Mentioned as possibilities have been Larry Leach, with the club last season and a promising rookie.

Cougars will play four exhibition games before knocking the lid off the league season Monday afternoon, October 14, against New Westminster Royals at Memorial Arena.

They'll take on Nanaimo Clippers at Nanaimo Saturday night in a warm-up for a three-game tour of the Okanagan next week. They play in Penticton Monday, move to Kelowna for a Tuesday night game, wind up on Wednesday at Vernon.

Texacos Win Opening Game

Joe Stebeck fired three goals and Bill Mundy and Fred Potts added two each at Carnarvon Park Sunday as Texacos, formerly Fuller Clippers, made their debut in Division II of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association with a 7-0 triumph over Eagles.

In Sunday's other game Optimists of Division I nipped Mariners, 3-2, at Windsor Park.

Tom Collett put Mariners ahead, 1-0, but Allan Glen tied the score before the first half ended. Glen added his second goal shortly after the intermission and Robin Barnes got the winner minutes later. Berry Fredrickson notched Mariners' second goal.

SAN MUSIAL
. . . wins for seventh time

TED WILLIAMS
. . . oldest batting champ.

Williams Ends Great Season; Musial, Sievers Take Honors

Ted Williams and Stan Musial, a couple of veteran batting greats, and Roy Sievers, a power slugger for a last-place club, walked off with the three top individual awards as the 1957 major league baseball schedule wound up Sunday.

Williams, at 39 the oldest player ever to win a major league batting championship, hit a double and a single while his Boston Red Sox edged New York Yankees, 3-2, and took his fifth batting title with a .388 average.

Williams, finishing perhaps the most remarkable batting season in major league history, played only three innings, then left the game in favor of a pinch runner.

His .388 mark was the highest average for either league since he slammed the ball at a .406 clip in 1941. His previous [illegible] (.356), 1947 (.343) and 1948 (.368).

Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees finished second this season with .365 and failed to repeat in any of the three major hitting departments.

Oldest batting champion prior to Williams was Honus Wagner, who turned the trick in 1911 for Pittsburgh Pirates at the age of 37.

38 HOMERS

In 132 games, Williams was up 420 times, scored 96 runs and had 163 hits. He had 38 home runs, second highest total in the league, 28 doubles, one triple and 307 total bases. He drew 120 walks and struck out 44 times.

Musial, 36-year-old first baseman for St. Louis Cardinals, took an early vacation Thursday and finished hitting at a .351 clip, tying Rogers Hornsby for second in the all-time league list with his seventh title, one behind Wagner.

Sievers became the first American Leaguer to win the home run and RBI championships while playing for a last place club. He hit 42 home runs, had 114 runs batted in and led in total bases with 331.

Milwaukee's Hank Aaron, last year's National League batting champ at .328, was home run king with 44 and led in runs batted in with 132.

Home run production fell of 4 per cent in 1957, with 2,202 hit this year as compared to 2,294 in 1956. National League batsmen hit 1,178 and American League hitters, 1,024.

New York Yankees suffered the greatest loss in this department, hitting only 145, eight behind Boston and 21 less than Kansas City Athletics.

ATTENDANCE BOOST

Major league attendance increased 2.8 per cent, a gain of 470,525 paying customers. The National League attracted 8,817,481 and the American 8,196,294 for a total of 17,013,775. Milwaukee Braves played before 2,215,414 and broke their own [illegible] while the Yankees again paced the American League with 1,497,134.

There were several highlights in Sunday's play. Righthander Jim Bunning of Detroit Tigers became the third major leaguer to win 20 games, joining Milwaukee's Warren Spahn (21-11) and Billy Pierce of Chicago White Sox (20-12), by coming on in relief to beat the Athletics, 7-4. Bunning lost eight games.

Chicago Cubs gained a seventh-place tie with Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League by downing the Cardinals, 8-3.

First-baseman Ed Bouchee made another bid for rookie-of-the-year honors with a two-run homer, his 17th, as Philadelphia Phillies beat the Dodgers, 2-1.

Baltimore capped a fine season and ended in fifth place, one game behind Detroit, by downing the Senators, 7-3. The Orioles also set a major league record by playing through their 80th errorless game.

Cleveland failed in its bid for a first division berth, although beating Chicago White [illegible] spot, their first second division finish since 1946.

Wreck Polo Grounds

Giant Fans Stage Riotous Farewell

NEW YORK — Souvenir hunters went wild here Sunday after 11,606 fans watched the San Francisco-bound New York Giants play their last game at historic Polo Grounds.

After the last out, players had to run for the clubhouse with fans clutching for their hands, their hats or anything else they could touch. For the first time since the triumphant day in 1951 when Bobby Thompson won the playoff game from Brooklyn, the fans stormed the clubhouse steps.

Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, was nowhere to be seen. When his name was mentioned during the introduction of oldtime Giants, he was roundly booed. The crowd had carried signs reading: "Stay Team Stay," but when it became obvious that all the signs in the world wouldn't help, they swung into action.

After chanting "We want Stoneham — with a rope around his neck," while standing on the clubhouse steps the fans proceeded to take everything that could be picked up or torn loose from the stadium.

The surging crowd

Ripped up home plate.

Tore the bronze plaque off the 36-year-old Grant memorial in deep centre field. It was later recovered from three boys.

Pulled down and tore to bits yards of thick foam rubber that had cushioned the centre field fences, and sawed off part of the grandstand to take home.

Carried off first and second bases and the two auxiliary home plates.

Scooped and gouged patches of grass or bare infield turf, sometimes stuffing it into bags or cans.

When it was over, the Polo Grounds had been picked clean and there were huge divots all over the grounds.

Fans Show Enthusiasm

Upsets Feature Pro Grid Opening As Division Champs Both Beaten

Judging from what happened in Sunday's six openers, the National Football League is in for a record season.

Not only did the six games attract 260,137 fans, 45,381 more than last season when a new high of 2,551,263 was set, but four of the results were classed as upsets to indicate the NFL may be in for customer-attracting races in both divisions.

New York Giants and Chicago Bears, division champions last season, were among the defeated. The Giants were edged, 6-3, by Cleveland Browns in the day's top defensive battle while the Bears were surprised, 21-17, as the Packers made the opening of a new stadium at Green Bay an auspicious occasion.

Pittsburgh Steelers, playing under new coach Buddy Parker, scored a rousing upset with a 28-7 win over Washington Redskins while Chicago Cardinals, who won only one of six exhibition games, beat the 49ers, 20-10, at San Francisco.

Baltimore Colts' 34-14 win over Detroit Lions was also a bit of a surprise. In the game which did go according to preseason dope, Los Angeles Rams were given an unexpected tussle before getting by Philadelphia Eagles, 17-13.

Defending champions, the Giants, traded field goals with the Browns in the second quarter, lost when Lou Groza connected for a 47-yard field goal with only 21 second left. "The Toe" also booted Cleveland's first field goal.

Babe Parilli, obtained from Cleveland during the off-season, quarterbacked the Green Bay win, passing for two touchdowns and setting up the third. His six-yard scoring pass to Gary Knafelc in the dying seconds of the game brought the Packers from behind just in time.

Another standout performance was turned in by Jim Unitas, Baltimore quarterback. He passed for the Colts' four touchdowns. One play covered 44 yards, two others were for 35 yards each.

Baltimore's line held the Lions to 23 yards on the ground.

Earl Morrall, obtained from San Francisco in a big trade, sparked the Steelers with his great passing. He tossed three touchdown passes and set up another score with his accurate tossing.

Scores:

Cleveland Browns 6, New York Giants 3
Green Bay Packers 21, Chicago Bears 17
Los Angeles Rams 17, Philadelphia Eagles 13.
Baltimore Colts 34, Detroit Lions 14
Pittsburgh Steelers 28, Washington Redskins 7
Chicago Cardinals 20, San Francisco 49ers 10

Remember When:

Carl Erskine, Brooklyn Dodger righthander, set a world series strike-out record by fanning 14 Yankees four years ago today in the third game of the series. Brooklyn won that game 3-2 but the Yankees took the series by four games to two. When Don Larsen of the Yankees pitched the first world series perfect game last year, he struck out seven Brooklyn batters.

'Can't Condone Stool Pigeons' Judge Declares

PETERBOROUGH Ont. (CP) — The practice of using petty lawbreakers as police informers ("stool pigeons") cannot be condoned, Mr Justice F. G. MacKay says in the most sharply-worded paragraph of his 49 page report on last July's inquiry into the police force here.

The report, which contains no recommendations, was read Monday night in city council.

Mr. Justice MacKay was appointed special commissioner by Attorney-General Roberts of Ontario to investigate the Peterborough police department and Deputy Chief N. A. (Bud) Clarke.

Council made no comment following the reading of the report. Some councillors, however, expressed disappointment that no recommendations were made. The report was sent on to the police commission for study.

DIDN'T FOLLOW ADVICE

The commissioner found Clark did not follow the instructions of Judge John de N. Kennedy in February, 1954, to discontinue use of informers.

He also found Clarke had assisted bootlegger Geoffrey (Gyp) Feeley in a scheme which led to three Peterborough men being chargd with attempted extortion; that Clarke had tried to protect Feeley from being prosecuted for liquor offences; that he had told Fred Lustic he would get a lighter sentence for tire theft if he did not mention Feeley's name in the testimony.

Judge's Lesson

Groom Tastes Prison

VANCOUVER (CP) After a weekend in jail, a bridegroom of one month was fined $100 in assize court yesterday for criminal negligence in the operation of his car.

A mixed jury Friday acquitted Leonard Burton Phare, 25, Sechelt logger and pipeline worker, of the more serious offence of causing the death of his friend Len Williams by criminal negligence.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson yesterday told Phare he had sent him to jail "for the weekend so that he would find out what it was like.

"But you are not the type of young man I ordinarily send to jail," said the judge.

"I fine you $100 or three days, but I am suspending your driver's licence for three years, the maximum I can impose."

Williams was killed July 7, 1956, when a power pole fell on his car after it had been sheared off by Phare's car on the Pender Harbor-Hopkins Landing road.

Billions for Car Repairs

Rage, Frustration, Suspicion

DETROIT (UP) — The American public will spend close to $9,000,000,000 for repairs and upkeep on motor vehicles this year and in the payment of these figures there will be rage, frustration, suspicion, and — rarely — satisfaction by both cus[illegible]

Millions of these billions are about to be spent in the next few weeks, for pre-winter checkups, repairs and preparation. For most motorists, the anti-freeze, new tires and ignition replacements will take a sizable bill and a bill only a few figured in the family budget.

The latest issue of the National Auto Dealers' Association magazine is almost solely devoted to the problems of service: how to do a good job [illegible] as well as get the service business.

One writer points out the heart of the problem in many customer-garage hassles: It's almost impossible to sell service in advertising because most motorists don't want it until they need it.

Thus, the customer is usually pretty upset by a high repair bill even when he knows it's fair.

But on the side of the customer, there's no question that the service facilities of [illegible] mechanics really qualified to do a good job at a fair price are far short of the need.

There has been a mechanic shortage for a long time, with 66 vehicles to a mechanic in 1925. But now, with an estimated 67,500,000 vehicles there are 762,000 mechanics, or 89 vehicles per man.

The shortage of trained mechanics, and the growing complexity of cars is also a reason why there is customer dissatisfaction with repairs. [illegible] know their job.

The man with the biggest service business is also the man with the biggest service problem: the new car dealer.

Labor Blamed

Milk Up Cent

Today's milk will cost one cent more a quart than it did yesterday.

Victoria's four major dairies and other small milk distributors announced yesterday a new price list of 25 cents a quart for standard milk, 27 cents for Jersey milk, 22 cents for butter milk, and 21 cents for skim milk.

Cream prices will jump two cents to 27 cents a pint for Creemo, and 38 cents a half-pint for whipping cream.

FIRST JUMP

"This is the first price adjustment in milk since 1951," noted a spokesman for North western Dairies. "The largest single cost factor is labor, a cost which has increased several times since 1951."

Some 200 employees of the four major distributors won a $30 to $32 a month wage increase, retroactive to Jan. 1 with signing of a contract last month.

Martin Shepherd of Shepherd's Dairy said this last wage hike made the price increase necessary, but that it had been kept to the smallest amount possible one cent.

CREDITABLE

"If all other industries had held the price line as well as we have, it would be a creditable performance," said N. J. Sharp, manager of Palm Dairies.

Thomas Lindsay, manager of Island Farms stated that other costs than labor had also risen.

Savings from the dropping of delivery on Wednesday are not sufficient to offset cost increases, he said.

Skipping of delivery on Wednesdays and Sundays is "working out well," Mr. Lindsay said. "I don't think anybody suffered."

The delivery system has been in effect in several up-Island cities for some time, he said.

Explosives Men Accept Award

Some 150 workers at the Canadian Industries Ltd. explosives plant on James Island voted Sunday to accept a majority conciliation board recommendation of wage increases averaging 10 per cent.

The vote was 98 per cent in favor of acceptance.

A company spokesman said the majority report is "under study."

Council Votes Solidly For Private Charter

Stung by several defeats at the hands of smaller B.C. municipalities, Victoria city council voted unanimously yesterday to seek legislative approval of its own city charter.

First indications were that a private charter would have the support of the city's three MLAs but provincial government policy was not known.

J. Everett Brown, deputy minister of municipal affairs, said there was no actual government policy since "the matter has never come up before," but pointed out that a Victoria charter might bring applications for charters from other centres and added Victoria "might not get what it wants."

Council on the motion of Ald. Donald Smith, instructed City Solicitor T. P. O'Grady to prepare a city charter for submission to the legislature sitting which begins in January.

Mr. O'Grady is to base his draft charter on the Vancouver act, the only other private charter in B.C. His report is expected to be ready for the council meeting Oct. 24.

Ald. Smith said a city charter would give the same protection "to all persons and organizations" now received under the Municipal Act, which he felt the city had "outgrown."

A charter, he said, would enable Victoria to gain "at least $25,000 additional revenue" in business tax on trust companies and such buildings as the new B.C. Electric headquarters. Vancouver taxes these sources.

Would Speed Legislation

Ald. Smith said that, with a charter of its own, the city could also pass bylaws "to solve the problem of hours for corner grocers and service stations," and could pass and enforce traffic regulations "in a matter of hours instead of two or more weeks, as at present."

Mayor Percy Scurrah said he decided in favor of a charter while attending the B.C. municipalities convention last week, where a Victoria resolution urging elected police commissions (instead of appointed, as under the new Municipal Act) and other Victoria submissions were defeated by the majority, composed of smaller centres.

"The sooner we apply for a private charter, the better off we'll be," said the mayor. "The power (to elect police commissioners) has been taken away without consulting either the council or the people . . There was no demand for a change."

However, Mayor Scurrah emphasized that Victoria would retain its membership in the UBCM and would remain active "in questions of provincial importance, such as the cost of education."

Legislature Will Decide

Mr. Brown pointed out that "just having a charter doesn't necessarily mean Victoria will get what it wants . . It's up to the legislature what is in the charter."

If Victoria gets a charter, he said, "they might have to give one to Burnaby and then New Westminster and North Vancouver."

He said it was traditional that any private bill from a municipality in the legislature have the support of MLAs representing that municipality. Ald. Smith is one MLA, and Public Works Minister W. N. Chant is expected to support the idea.

Liberal MLA George Gregory said that "while I stand ready as ever to do anything I can for Victoria, I can only say that until I see what powers are sought in the charter, I cannot commit myself one way or the other."

He said it would be "a refreshing change if council seeks my support," since at the last session, the city did not consult him about a private bill before it was introduced in the House and "the first I ever heard of it was on Feb. 28 when it was moved on first reading by one of the members for Vancouver Centre."

Three Cars Big Prizes For 8,000

By COURTNEY TOWER

Three persons, out of what was believed to be the largest crowd the Memorial Arena has held, last night found themselves the winners of automobiles.

HOUSEWIVES WIN

Two of the three main winners in the giant Victoria Kinsmen Club-sponsored bingo night were housewives. Neither had a car in the family and neither knew how to drive her prize home.

The winners were:

Mrs. Audrey Dawson, 913 Wychbury, a new Ford; Philip J. Tarr, 4017 Saanich Road, a new Volkswagen; Mrs. Ray Bertola, 3900 Hobbs, a new Hillman station wagon.

QUICK COUNT

A preliminary count indicated roughly 7,775 paying bingo fans were in the arena.

Arena manager Joe Dukowski said that, with the large staff hired, the house count would be brought to well over 8,000. He said he believed this was Memorial Arena's biggest crowd.

PROCEEDS HIGH

Kinsmen Club president Stan Mossop said it was expected that "at least $16,000, anyway," would be realized. Proceeds are to go to development of the Kinsmen Gorge Park in Esquimalt.

Bingo addicts covered every seat in the stands, including the penalty boxes usually reserved for errant lacrosse and hockey players. The big floor was filled with seats crowded up to the centre of attraction, the official stage where numbered balls blew up and down in a wind machine, like a guessing game in a carnival.

TWINS, TOO

It was a quiet crowd, all fans intent on their cards in the cigaret-smoke haze. But they let out a congratulatory roar when the first one up in the car winning department, Phillip Tarr, 30, reported he had come here five years ago from Cardiff, Wales. The shouts were as loud when it was announced this would be a present for the new Tarr twins.

Mr. Tarr, corralled before he rushed off to phone his wife at home with the three-month-old twins and two other children aged 7 and 2, said he had a small car now and didn't know what he would do with this one. He is a counter salesman with Canadian Westinghouse here.

WILL KEEP CAR

Mrs. Ray Bertola, a delighted woman who "couldn't believe it," said her husband is with a finance company and "we just have a company car." They have two children and will keep the car.

The biggest winner, and certainly the most nervous, was Mrs. Dawson, who was going to call her soldier husband in Edmonton "if I can get in touch with him."

CAR DEMOLISHED

"My husband was in an accident and our car was completely demolished last year," she told the crowd which had thundered its applause when it learned she had had no car before.

"He's going to be more surprised than I am," she later said. "We've been planning and hoping to buy a car for some time."

Other winners of a many and varied series of prizes included: E. C. Conarroe, 750 Pemberton Road; L. Ward, Chemainus; Ed Hubbard, 871 Brett Avenue; John A. Rask, 630 Rockwell; Mrs. Jean Hornstock, 544 Dunedin; W. C. Sheil, 44 San Jose; Mrs. R. Smith, 919 Darwin; Mrs. D. Christian, 403 Bay Street.

Monday Closing Studied

Suggestion that Victoria stores close on Monday mornings or afternoons instead of Wednesday afternoons will be studied by the city legislative committee.

The suggestion was made by Ald. E. D. McEwen at yesterday's meeting of city council.

He said the move would make shopping habits in Victoria more uniform with the rest of the area and noted that Oak Bay and Saanich stores now closed Monday afternoons.

The legislative committee consists of Mayor Percy Scurrah, Ald. Arthur Dowell and Ald. Austin Curtis.

Two Hurt In Three Accidents

Three motor vehicles were badly damaged and two teen-agers suffered slight injuries Sunday in two traffic accidents on West Saanich Road.

A car driven by G. F. Thorne, 4014 Wiseton, was in head-on collision on the road about three miles north of Brentwood Sunday afternoon with one driven by C. E. Finnigan, 1361 Lang. Both cars were badly damaged. Suffering cuts and bruises were Heather Macdonald, 14, Interurban Road, and Tony Lorentzen, 14, Lawrence Road, Saanichton.

On West Saanich Road near McTavish Road a pickup truck driven by George H. Varley, Royal Oak, failed to round a curve and crashed into a pole. The truck was reported a total loss. Varley, who said the vehicle blew a tire on the curve, was unhurt.

School Tenders Close Oct. 4

Tenders for additions and alterations to Langford Elementary School close Oct. 4, a spokesman for architects Clack, Clayton and Pickstone said last night.

The work, to cost about $100,000, will consist of adding three classrooms, a 50-by-72-foot activity room with a stage; kitchen facilities, new toilets, and a covered play area of 3,000 square feet.

NANAIMO—Funeral services will be held today for Mrs. Janet Niven Smith. Mrs. Smith, who had lived in Nanaimo since 1912, died in hospital Saturday at the age of 71. She was a member of Crescent Chapter No. 10, Order of the Eastern Star.

Lost Jet Clue Fails

VANCOUVER (CP) — The RCAF said Monday two pieces of twisted metal found north of Campbell River Sunday are not from a jet trainer which is believed to have crashed in the area last year.

It had at first been believed the pieces of aluminum might have been from the T-33 which was on a flight from Comox to Campbell River with two men aboard on March 22, 1956. No trace of the men or plane has been found.

The metal was found by a hunter in the Menzie Mountain area, 25 miles north of Campbell River. The air force said the aluminum was probably from a logging operation.

NANAIMO—The senior citizens' housing development project is complete and will be officially opened Saturday, it was announced yesterday. Helping Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black with the formalities will be one of Nanaimo's oldest couples, Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson.

Mr. Patterson, 82, has been invited to cut the ribbon which will officially open the 18 units for 36 pensioners. The project has cost some $150,000.

PORT ALBERNI—Details of a hassle which sent one man to hospital and another to court were not given in Port Alberni police court yesterday when Robert M. McLaren was charged with assault.

He pleaded guilty but stated that he had no clear idea of the skirmish which resulted in Roy Taylor being taken to West Coast General Hospital according to a report in court. Mr. Taylor's condition is not serious. The accused was fined $50 and costs.

The same fine was imposed on Clement G. Lafont charged with assault in a local cafe. Information given to the magistrate was that the accused had jerked the Chinese proprietor nearly over the counter by his lapels, took a swing at another member of the staff and hit a waitress.

In entering his plea Lafont stated, "I don't remember too much about it but possibly I'm guilty."

NANAIMO—A week-long drive for funds will be opened by the Victorian Order of Nurses here Oct. 7. Objective is $1,500. The organization fell $1,500 short of its aim last year.

NANAIMO—Social Credit party here is forwarding a resolution to the Socred convention in Vancouver this month asking abolition of the federal 10 per cent tax on automobiles and trucks. The party feels that the tax imposes an "unnecessarily heavy burden" on persons who earn their living with the aid of automobiles.

Elected president of the local organization was radio announcer Don Wilson. Lou Davies, William Allen and Mrs. Gertrude Hall are vice-presidents and Mrs. Charles Taylor, secretary.

ALBERNI—Bruce MacGalv, Victoria, is still in West Coast General Hospital as a result of an accident Saturday night in which his older-model car crashed into a guard rail on the highway.

Neither railing nor car were extensively damaged but the driver, alone in the vehicle, suffered rib and leg injuries.

Civil Servants' MSA Accepts B.C.'s Offer

Members of the B.C. Government Employees Medical Services have agreed to accept the provincial government's offer of paying 50 per cent of the cost of the scheme.

The government, in exchange, will appoint five members of the board of directors giving it a 50 per cent representation.

Under the new scheme the plan will be available to all of the 14,000 provincial civil servants regardless of whether or not they are members of the B.C. Government Employees Association.

Previously government workers had to belong to the BCGEA to be able to join the medical services plan.

About 9,000 civil servants at present participate in the scheme but it is expected that nearly all will now join.

Meanwhile the provincial cabinet moved yesterday to bring about 700 Liquor Control Board employees throughout the province under provisions of the Public Services Medical Plan Act. Most of the LCB workers are members of the B.C. Government Employees Medical Service.

PTA to Raise Award Funds

Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council passed bylaws setting up six scholarships for high school graduates from this area going into teacher training.

The scholarships of $100 will be given to graduates of the five high schools in Greater Victoria and Belmont High School.

Funds for the bursary awards will be raised from the 32 PTA groups in Greater Victoria. First awards will be made next September.

Kamloops Using Natural Gas

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Kamloops Monday became the first interior city to begin consumption of natural gas. Fifteen private consumers and four commercial houses used the fuel for heating purposes.

Officer Had the Right Idea But the Wrong Campaign

A naval officer pulled a real "blooper" by kicking off the wrong campaign at HMCS Naden yesterday.

The story was confirmed by other officers, but to save the mixed-up officer further embarrassment they refused to identify him.

The officer, a lieutenant-commander, stood up before a rally of officers, many of them his superior in rank, and began to praise the Community Chest.

He was well launched into the talk when the persistent whispering of a junior officer interrupted.

"This is a lecture on Canada savings bonds," the lieutenant said.

Both a Community Chest and savings bond campaign are being held at the naval school. The officer evidently got his wires crossed during a telephone invitation to speak.

Mrs. K. R. Rose Speaks At Victoria Presbytery

Mrs. K. R. Rose of Toronto, president Dominion Council Woman's Association of the United Church of Canada was the speaker at the Victoria presbytery of the United Church Woman's Association at the Metropolitan United Church yesterday afternoon.

Introduced to the assembly by Mrs. W. C. Gutteridge, provincial president of the WA, Mrs Rose opened her talk by saying how happy she was to be here, and to be able to congratulate personally the presbytery for the work they had done since their organization five years ago. She said there were 6,000 WA's across Canada, totalling 212,000 women and she urged all members of the church to join the WA. The women's first responsibility was to their local church, then to the United Church projects, and then to support outside organizations if they so desired.

Mrs. Rose took as her theme the "Glory of the Church." She said the early church was not as we know it today, but people meeting living Church of Christ members. The church had always maintained unbroken fellowship throughout wars and [illegible] tioned missionaries and the wonderful work they had done, and are still doing.

One of the first responsibilities of all church members was to deepen their own personal faith, and witness and lead others.

Secondly, it was most important in the groups and in the WA meetings, in the worship periods, to have prayer groups, and bible study.

Thirdly, to have a study program that was worthwhile. Mrs. Rose urged all members of the church to read the board of evangelism and social service book of study programs, which would act as a guide for the organization of WA study programs.

Mrs Rose said there was an urgent need for deaconesses and church workers and requested the help of the WA's in encouraging young people to take up this work, and to assist them with financial aid where possible, enabling them to attend training centres.

Another important factor, she mentioned, was family life. The attendance of church regularly, bible reading and prayer as a family unit, to set an example to neighbors and friends.

In conclusion she urged all groups and WA's to work in close co-operation with local ministers as they could give invaluable help and guidance.

What's Cooking!

Readers Supply Recipes For German Potato Balls

Did I ever make a lot of enemies this last Sunday? Like a perfect fool I put the clocks forward, instead of back. Being a very early riser I purposely refrained from telephoning some of my newly-found pals who, maybe like you, "sleep in" on Sunday mornings. And so when I stuck it out, as I thought till 9 a.m. it was only 7 o'clock—few there are who like to be aroused at that hour. Let's form a club of early risers.

Do you remember the other day I asked for some help regarding a request for a German recipe? My dears, within a matter of hours I got the answer. How kind people are.

Now while the following will only be of special interest to our readers of German stock, of which I did not realize we had so many, it might be that you and I who were born under the Union Jack will try it. So here goes and many thanks to Frau E. H. B. who kindly made this translation from a German cook book. . .

THURINGIA KLOSSE
(makes 20 Klosse)

11 pounds potatoes, 1¼ pints milk, 2 ounces shortening; 4½ ounces cream of wheat, 2 slices of white bread; salt.

This is obviously a translation. And with all respect and gratitude to Mrs. E. H. B. I do not think it is a very good one. Let us proceed, however. Take 1¼ pints of milk. Add cream of wheat, cook to a smooth consistency and add salt to taste. While cream of wheat is cooking peel potatoes and shred into water so that they won't become a brown color. (Don't forget this is all in quotes.) Then put shredded potatoes into a cheese cloth and press dry in ricer, then into a large mixing bowl.

Add cooked cream of wheat and stir thoroughly. Heat shortening and add diced slices of bread. Fry until brown (size of tennis balls), with 3 or 4 pieces of fried bread in centre. To prevent mixture from sticking to hands dip fingers in cold water. Drop balls gently into a pot of boiling water, boil for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to bring off boil. Let stand for 15 more minutes and serve." Aufwiedersehen, my dear, and many thanks.

Say listen, everybody. Since we're on this subject this morning we might as well stay on it. Here's the next suggestion . . . But if you think it's funny for me, as a self-taught typist, to type these German words you have another think coming!

Never say die. Here we go again with a contribution from Miss A. L. D. whose letter was most interesting but in my allotted space I cannot squeeze it in. I will, however, run her contributed recipe in response to the request . . .

KANTOFFEL KLOSSE
(Potato Balls)

"Two or 3 cups cold mashed potatoes, 1 egg well beaten; salt, flour. Mix the egg and salt with potatoes. Then add enough flour so that the dough will not stick to the hands. Form into balls about the size of a walnut and drop into boiling salted water for about 10 minutes. If any are left over they are very good sliced and fried golden brown on both sides.

"A dumpling is used in a German's diet in place of bread." End of quotes, will you please note?

TRICK OF THE DAY

Mrs. D.G. sends in this one . . . "When my black leather bag gets shabby on edges I do it all over with shoe polish. If the inside is leather I do that too. It makes it look like new and also preserves the leather." Since we're all changing now from summer handbags to dark ones this trick seems timely.

Money Voted For Materials

It was voted to give $25.00 for wool and materials for articles to be made to ship overseas, at the regular monthly meeting of the Major John Hebden Gillespie Chapter, IODE, held at the home of Mrs. D. Dann, Transit Road.

Mrs. Johnston, the film convener, moved that $2.00 be sent to National Film Fund and $1.00 to Municipal Film Fund.

New Educational secretary, Mrs. H. Molyneaux reported the remainder of the Encyclopaedias have been shipped to our adopted school at Alzea Lake.

It was moved to give $10.00 to the Golden Jubilee Scholarship Fund.

Twenty nursery bags will be filled at $1.00 per bag.

The net profit from the Rummage Sale amounted to $64.17.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

SHOE FINDINGS. A pointed toe pump is fashion's first choice in fall footwear. And with good reason for its graceful silhouette perfectly harmonizes with new clothing silhouettes. From the beauty angle, the shoe has virtue, too. It slenderizes the foot and flatters the leg as no other. If you have not yet worn a pair, the time seems ripe.

But as pointed pumps are built on new patterns, do not shop for them with pre-conceived ideas about size or last. Let the salesman make suggestions after analyzing your foot.

Of course, only you can judge fit. So do walk around in the shoes you try on before making decisions. If you have a long, pointed foot, be sure your toes extend well into the toe of the shoe. Conversely, the toes of a blunt foot should not fill the shoe's point and must not be forced to. In either case, make certain that the arch, instep and vamp fit snugly enough to buttress the foot in place. That way, pointed pumps are good walkers as well as good lookers.

CLUES TO GOOD CARRIAGE

For a lovelier figure, walk with the grace that nature intended! To check or improve on your ability, send for "Clues to Good Carriage," my leaflet giving complete instructions on shoes, stockings and walking techniques that enhance both carriage and legline. Write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and five cents in coin.

Arab Refugee Problem Must Go Before Peace

"It will be essential to eradicate feudalism and to settle the Arab refugee problem before there can be any real peace in the Middle East," Capt. Stuart Morgan told members of the Victoria Women's Canadian Club at a meeting in Club Sirocco yesterday afternoon. Capt. Morgan lived in the Middle East for 26 years and his talk dealt with the situation that exists there now.

Capt. Morgan said that he felt [illegible] to pronounce judgment on the United States' handling of the Middle East situation it has not produced any of that effective "Know How" which the Eisenhower doctrine was to have provided.

Canada must do her own thinking, Capt. Morgan stressed. Above all other things if Canada is going to exercise sovereignty, she is to do her own thinking. He contended that unless she does her own thinking and comes to conclusions . . . and prosecutes these conclusions, the world will question the reality of her sovereignty.

Capt. Morgan briefly outlined the history of the countries known as the Middle East [illegible] crossed from Venice to Cathay and the growth of a great civilization in this area. Then when ocean traffic took the trade further west the Middle East lost much of its prominence.

The finding of oil in great quantities in this century brought back an outstanding wealth to the countries he explained. The whole character and destiny changed and they became vitally alive again.

The West's materialistic drive for power has had its effect on the Arab world, Capt. Morgan said. These people who formerly lived strictly, frugally, a pastoral, religious people who are showing a definite leaning [illegible] is not good, Capt. Morgan stated.

In this material age we must all fight to avoid becoming slaves of technology and strive to keep the personal dignity of man, Capt. Morgan stressed.

Mrs. R. D. Harvey was in the chair and introduced the speaker. At the conclusion Dr. Olga Jardine expressed the thanks of the members to Capt. Morgan.

Esquimalt Women's Institute will hold a social evening in the Community hall on Thursday, Oct. 3, at 2 p.m. Visitors will be welcome.

Finance Ministers' Decision

Announced Today

Trade Talks Win Approval

Canadian Proposal Accepted

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (BUP) — Canadian proposals for holding a Commonwealth trade and economic conference were closely studied and approved last night by the finance ministers of the Commonwealth, it was learned.

The finance ministers discussed the Canadian proposals among themselves and then met at 6.30 p.m. for 10 minutes to give their answer. Their final replies were needed last night to give officials time to prepare and print an official communique for this morning, confidential sources said.

ENDS TODAY

Finance Minister Donald Fleming said after yesterday's final meeting that the finance ministers would meet again at 10:30 a.m. today and the conference would officially end at noon. He said the closing communique on the conference would contain "in general terms" Canada's proposals for holding the full-dress Commonwealth trade and economic conference.

Mr. Fleming said the ministers spent the entire day discussing the Canadian proposals and the discussions had been "very satisfactory.". Delegates from all of the Commonwealth countries spoke on the proposals, he added.

It was believed the Canadian proposals mainly outlined means by which Canada could shift a sizeable share of its dollar imports to the sterling area.

Mr. Fleming said Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, Peter Thorneycroft, and minister of trade, Sir David Eccles, would come to Ottawa Wednesday for talks with the Canadian government on its free-trade proposal between Canada and Britain. He emphasized that the talks would be "informal." He said however, that he expected the talks would probably last two days, but that it was also possible that they may only last a day.

He added that the British ministers would meet Prime Minister Diefenbaker Wednesday.

Would Hurt At First

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States officials said they were surprised yesterday at Britain's offer to wipe out all tariffs on Canadian goods if Canada would so the same for British imports.

Any such British-Canadian free trade agreement, they said, probably would cut down the amount of American goods shipped to Canada at least initially.

Eventually, as British-Canadian trade increased as a result of the free trade arrangement, these officials said, American shipments to Canada would probably go up.

These authorities stressed these were the offhand views.

Most officials view Britain's offer as reflecting London's fear that the six-country European common market will hurt British trade with the continent.

Tariff End 'Too Risky'

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP) — Britain's offer to eliminate all tariffs and other restrictions on Canadian goods if Canada reciprocates has drawn a rather cool reception in official Canadian quarters.

Some authorities believe it might wreck huge segments of home industry. Finance Minister Fleming himself made clear the difficulties would be "very formidable."

The free-trade offer was described by Chancellor of the Exchequer Peter Thorneycroft as possibly the "most adventurous" way of implementing Prime Minister Diefenbaker's suggested switch of 15 per cent of Canadian imports from the United States to Britain.

Mr. Fleming declined to say what his government's plans are for implementing the suggested trade switch, but described as "nonsense" some overseas reports that his government had abandoned the plan.

Jolt to Washington

MONT TREMBLANT (BUP) — Surprise developments of this Commonwealth finance ministers' conference are considered by the Canadian delegation to have provided a dramatically new background for the talks of the Canada-United States joint economic committee scheduled to open Oct. 7.

Commonwealth conference circles agree in regarding the spectacular British proposals for a free-trade area between Canada and the United Kingdom as strengthening immeasurably this country's hand.

Opinion here is that new weight will be given to Canadian protests against U.S. wheat and food surplus disposal policies. An increased U.S. willingness to understand the Canadian point of view and co-operate is regarded as something that can be depended upon.

Courtroom Parade

Thief Jailed Twice in Day

Donald Gray, 855 Fort, appeared in two Greater Victoria police courts yesterday for sentence on two charges. Magistrate Henry Hall, presiding in both courts, handed down three-year penitentiary terms on each charge, to run concurrently.

In city police court Gray was charged with breaking into Moore Whittington Lumber Co. Ltd Sept 11 and stealing paint wood finishes, brushes, saws and a cooking unit with a total value of more than $1,000.

In Esquimalt police court Gray was charged with theft of a skilsaw valued at more than $100, from the yard of G. H Wheaton Ltd., 888 Viewfield, on or about Sept. 19.

Charge of false pretences against Kenneth Robert Bailey, involving purchase of a motor cycle, was dismissed in city police court.

* * *

Albert L. Dobbins, no fixed address, pleaded guilty in city police court in a charge of breaking and entry and theft, and was remanded to Oct. 2 for sentence.

Dobbins, who has a long record, admitted breaking into Room 125, Drake Hotel, on Sept 28 by forcing open a window, and taking a radio, electric shaver and some pictures.

Investigating police found some articles belonging to accused near the window, and picked Dobbins up on Sunday.

He Drilled His Way To Fortune

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — Walter Bradshaw, 81, known as "the last of the hardrock drilling champions," died Sunday. Bradshaw and a partner, Joe Freethy, set a world hammer and drill record in 1901, when they bored 55 feet into a concrete slab in 15 minutes. Bradshaw, who won about $35,000 in hardrock drilling contests, could slam home 80 blocks a minute with a heavy sledge.

Vaccine More Dangerous Than Flu, Say Doctors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A panel of medical experts has reached the conclusion that mass immunization against Asian flu doesn't make sense.

The group met at the request of the San Francisco Medical Society to assess the status of the Asian-type virus.

Among those on the panel were Dr. Karl F. Meyer, emeritus director of University of California's Hooper Foundation, and one of the world's foremost experts on epidemic diseases, Dr. Lowell Rantz, Stanford professor of medicine; Dr. Henry Brainerd, University of California professor of medicine, Dr Henry Bruyn, University of California assistant professor of medicine, and Dr. Ellis Sox, San Francisco health director.

Dr. Rantz declared, "If we were to give the vaccine to one million persons across the board right now, we would have more deaths and illnesses from the vaccine than we have with the flu."

Dr. Ronald M. Campbell, president of the medical society, commenting on the clamor for vaccine, stated "I'd say there is a good deal of hysteria or near-hysteria. . . . . I'm giving the vaccine only to relieve the near hysteria."

What induced this "near hysteria?" Dr. Meyer suggested it arose from public demand for vaccine that had been manufactured for emergency purposes.

Net Fishing Prohibited

VANCOUVER (CP) — All net fishing in the Strait of Georgia and the Strait of Juan de Fuca has been closed till 6 p.m. Oct. 6 for conservation purposes, the Department of Fisheries said Saturday.

The department said this year's chum run is far below normal and the coho run is declining.

I was a bundle of nerves

My nerves were that bad the least little thing set me off. I was irritable, tense, easily depressed, and I slept badly. And as if that wasn't enough, I'd get indigestion.

Many people experience unpleasant feelings because their systems are disturbed by ingredients present in everyday beverages. While some people can drink tea, coffee, cocoa and some soft drinks without harm, others cannot.

Postum contains no tannic to interfere with digestion; no caffein, theophylline and theobromine which can cause nervousness, sleeplessness, irritability, palpitations, rapid pulse, followed by depression.

There is no need to endure any of these unpleasant feelings. Switch to Instant Postum which is guaranteed to contain no stimulants or drugs. Postum does not taste or act like ordinary beverages, but has a comforting flavor of its own. Make Postum easily, instantly, right in your cup. Just add freshly boiling water, stir and enjoy.

Try Postum for 30 days. When nerves are soothed, you sleep better, feel better, look better.

Young Purse-Rifler Gets Stern Lecture

A purse-rifling teenager got a stern lecture from Magistrate Henry Hall in city police court yesterday.

Gary Wilfred Bishop, 1334 Pembroke, was found guilty of theft of under $50 value, re- [illegible] report and sentence, and told that the magistrate regarded the whole incident as much more serious than the accused seemed to think it.

Bishop was charged with stealing a purse owned by 16-year-old Margaret Greig, 2985 Admirals, on Johnson Street at about 4 p.m. Sept. 10.

ACCOSTED ON STREET

The girl testified that the 19-year-old Bishop was one of three youths who called to her as she was walking down the sidewalk.

Miss Greig said Bishop came up to her, asked her name and, when she didn't give it, took her purse from where it rested on top of the school books she held in both arms.

From the purse, she said, he [illegible] three pictures and her birth certificate. He returned purse and billfold, but kept the pictures and certificate.

AGREED TO MEET

Miss Greig said she went away and came back with a friend, who asked Bishop to hand over the girl's belongings. This he declined to do, but agreed to meet at the same spot two days later, when the pictures and certificate would be returned.

This appointment was kept by Miss Greig and two police officers, and the articles were handed over.

Accused agreed in essence with the girl's story, but said he had not actually taken the purse from her possession at all; had opened it on top of her [illegible]

Garden Notes

Look to Your Borders

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The time is ripe now to get in a spot of work on the perennial border in order to get the most attractive effect from the fall-blooming plants.

The phloxes and sidalceas and such summer-blooming plants are beginning to look a little weather-worn, and their old flower heads should be trimmed off to preserve a neat appearance. Re[illegible] way will give a little more room for the autumn-flowering plants to spread out a bit.

Up to now, the Michaelmas daisies and other late-blooming subjects have been bundled up to their stakes like a sack tied in the middle. These ties should be loosened now, and possibly a few more stakes allotted to each plant, allowing the autumn flowers to occupy more space and dominate the bed.

* * *

Plants of spring cabbage which were raised from seed sown in mid summer should be big enough now to be planted out in the spot where they are to stand through the winter.

One of the best spots to use for this purpose is the ground where early potatoes have been lifted. Because of the cultivating and earthing-up and constant hoeing which had to be done while the potatoes occupied the ground, it should be well worked and "in good tilth" by now, and in splendid shape to take the cabbage plants. It needs only to be raked level and trodden down firm to make it ready.

It would be a mistake to scatter any fertilizer before transplanting your cabbage plants, as this would create a lush sappy growth much too tender for the winter storms. Instead apply all the wood ashes you can lay your hands on, for the potash they contain is invaluable for hardening up the plants to withstand winter winds and low temperatures.

If the potatoes you lifted from the plot were nice and clean and free from scab, you can take it for granted that there isn't enough lime in the soil to make a good cabbage crop, for ground which grows good cabbages will nearly always produce scabby spuds. If your potatoes were clean, then, it will be necessary to give the ground a good dressing of lime along with the wood ashes. Use four cupfuls of pulverized limestone or two cupfuls [illegible] raked into the top three inches of soil.

Under normal growing conditions, I am a great believer in giving my plants plenty of elbow room in which to develop properly, but it seems to me that subjects which are to stand outdoors all winter get along better when they are huddled together a bit closer than usual, as this gives them some degree of mutual protection from frost and wind.

In setting out spring cabbage plants, therefore, I space my rows only two feet apart, with the plants 18 inches apart in the rows.

The Viewing World

By John Crosby

Gunfire in the Parlor

On the Steve Allen show, an Indian bit the dust and then explained: "That's how we make our living—dying." It's a good gag but a fairly disturbing one. This is the year of the westerns, the sound of galloping hooves and gunfire resounds through millions of living rooms and the punch on the jaw as a means of settling everything is the big dramatic climax to more television programs than I care to think of.

The adult western hasn't really changed anything—beyond putting a sort of moral framework on the shooting. Matt Dillon of "Gunsmoke," for instance, doesn't like killing guys, but he keeps doing it. The big plot that bobs up again on the "adult" westerns is that this is positively the last time, just one more bloodletting in order to restore law and order—and that will be the end of the gunfire. (Until next week.) The variant on this is to teach the young punk a lesson before he becomes a gunfighter. One way to teach him a lesson he will never forget is to kill him. The other, which was followed on "Restless Gun" (NBC-TV 8 p.m. EDT Mondays) one of the new shows with John Payne the other night, is simply to wing him. Mostly, though, they do it the hard way.

* * *

Goodman Ace remarked "NBC just bought a show called 'The Californians.' You can't get any farther west than that unless they buy something called 'The Hawaiians.'" In plot and story structure, the new westerns have similarly gone as far west as they can get. For instance, "Have Gun Will Travel" (CBS-TV 9:30 p.m. EDT Saturdays) in which a man named Paladin (Richard Boone) is the hero, has borrowed heavily from the private eye world: that is, he's tough, he's for hire, and the things he's to be hired for require a gun.

"The Californians" (NBC-TV 10 p.m. EDT Tuesdays) which provoked that bleat of exasperation from Goodman Ace, has only been around once but already it gives promise of being a little different from the others. This is a fairly authentic historical melodrama about California's wild and woolly beginnings. For sheer violence, the first one was hard to lick. "Most brutal uprising against law and order in American history," said the narrator blandly. "Twelve hundred murders and only one hanging. The aim was to wipe out the police force entirely." Immediately, you know the story must be real because no one is going to make up anything that bloodthirsty.

All this lawlessness, I ought to explain, was transpiring in San Francisco a couple of years after the gold rush began in '49 and was eventually put down by vigilantes who, I gather, will play a large part in the series. This week: lawlessness in the gold fields.

With its shots of tall masts and clipper ships in the harbor, it was pictorially an interesting show and I hope the others are too. Frederick Hazlitt Brennan who wrote the series has apparently grubbed around in the records of the times sufficiently so that he writes with considerable authority and the first show had the ring of genuineness about it.

For photographic beauty of prairie and sky and horizon, "Wagon Train" (NBC-TV 7:30 p.m. EDT Wednesdays), another new western, is the best I've seen, at least on television, where the screen is pretty small and visual excellence doesn't usually come off very well. On the opening shot a good man with a weakness for alcohol fought the good fight in a manner that reminded me of James Oliver Curwood's stories of my youth.

Whisky is mostly frowned on by heroes of westerns. Everyone else drinks, but not not the hero. However, Paladin of "Have Gun Will Travel" is really kicking over the traces. It's not just that he drinks. It's what he drinks: tequila, for heaven's sake. Bad enough to teach our children the gentle art of homicide, but to arouse a taste for tequila is immoral.

Triple-Play Drivers Caught Out by Cop

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Policeman G. L. McElroy completed a triple-play Sunday — speeding tickets to three men in one car.

He chased a convertible and after several blocks, he said, the driver and his front seat passenger swapped places. A few blocks farther, McElroy was astonished to see a third man climb from the back seat into the driver's seat, as his companions moved over.

McElroy finally stopped the car and gave tickets to Thomas Curley, 26, the original driver; Robert Rice, 30, driver No. 2, and Gordon M. Goodfellow, 24, No. 3, charging each with going 45 to 50 in a 25-mile zone.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Pass	2 N.T.	Pass
3 N.T.	All Pass

Opening lead ♠ 6

Many players now use point count to guide them in their bidding but comparatively few have learned to use it guide their defensive play. When an opponent has opened the bidding with one two no-trump he proclaims to the enemy, as well as to his partner, the minimum and maximum number of high card points he holds. When the time comes, this can positively locate one or more of the missing cards.

North's raise announced that he had at least eight points and not as many as 10. With 17 for his no trump opening South went to game. But the combined total of 26 points did not give South a clear title to nine tricks.

South ducked the first two spades. West made a good play when he overtook the 10-spot in order to continue the suit. And South made a good play when he ducked the third spade, forcing East to make two discards by the time declarer took his spade ace. East threw a diamond and a heart (so did North), strongly bolstering South's hunch that the clubs wouldn't run. But even if they did, South needed a heart trick to bring his total up to nine. This meant that the hand was hopeless unless East held the heart ace, for if West held that card his fifth spade was the setting trick.

At the fifth trick, declarer led a low club to dummy and returned a low heart. East ducked and South won with the king. Next came three rounds of diamonds, compelling East to make another discard. East chose the 10 of hearts. South cashed the club ace and, when West's 10 dropped, he led a low heart, plowing East in with the heart ace. East had to play clubs into dummy's queen-nine and surrender the game.

By the time East had to make his last discard he could have counted 17 points in high cards in South's hand. If South had the heart queen he would have started with 19—too many for a bid of one no-trump. Hence, entirely aside from the danger of holding the ace of hearts in his own hand, there was the assurance that West had the heart queen and could use it as an entry to an established spade. East should have discarded the Ace of hearts and the contract would have been defeated.

Betty-Jean Hagen 'Electrifies' Record Audience

By BRUCE LOWTHER

Another of Canada's outstanding young artists, violinist Betty-Jean Hagen, made her local debut an electrifying event as Victoria Symphony Orchestra began its new season in the Royal Theatre Sunday and yesterday.

Her brilliant performance overshadowed the good news that the audience of almost 1,000 persons was probably the largest Sunday afternoon turnout in history and the concert last night was a virtual sellout, as well.

TERRIFIC SALE

Officials said almost 1,400 season tickets were sold before the opening, about 75 more than at the same time a year ago and only a few below the final total of 1,434 for last season.

Most noteworthy in 26-year-old Miss Hagen's performance was the incredibly smooth sound from her violin, produced by a sure touch and exact interpretation of the work, the Beethoven violin concerto.

Her virtuosity in the cadenzas, particularly in the first movement, put the performance in the "electrifying" category.

The orchestra itself, led by Hans Gruber in his usual fine style was at least as good as last year. Orchestra membership again numbers about 60 with the only major departure that of French horn leader Hans Stelzner, who has moved to the U.S.

Performance of the opening "Jubilee" overture by von Weber was more than good enough to overcome the faults of this rather undistinguished music. The other work, Dvorak's nicely-balanced second symphony, was played very well, especially in the lilting scherzo.

PIANO STAR NEXT

Still another young Canadian, Toronto pianist Ray Dudley, will play Rachmaninoff's third concerto at the next concerts, Oct. 20 and 21. The orchestra will add Vaughan Williams' "Fantasia on a Theme by Thomas Tallis" and Sibelius' fifth symphony.

Kiwanians To Stage TV Auction

Victoria's first television auction sale will be held this Friday and Saturday nights by the Kiwanis Club to raise funds for its continuing community services, the club announced yesterday.

Merchandise donated by city business men will be offered on the television screen and bids will be received by telephone. Money will be used for Kiwanis Village, junior safety patrols, and aid to the 4-H Clubs and Sunshine Camp.

CBC Censures 'Money' Shows

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC board of governors, tightening up on broadcast giveaway programs with a commercial angle, yesterday cautioned that formal regulation may be necessary if standards.

In public statement, the board said it feels that broadcasters should not produce such programs if contestants are required to pay money or show proof that they have purchased a sponsor's product.

It also said broadcasters should refrain from giveaway programs "unless the participants are present in the broadcasting studio and take part in the broadcast concerned, or entries are made in writing with arrangements for consideration on merit of all such entries. . ."

"The board hopes that these minimum standards that it has adopted with the support of the Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters will result in a correction of the situation that has developed in regard to giveaway broadcastsity of formal regulation."

The statement said its decision was taken after consultation with a committee of the CARTB—an association of privately-owned radio and television stations.

9 IN MEMORIAM

SCHENCK—In loving memory of a dear husband and dad, Edward Schenck, who passed away Sept. 30, 1956.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's weary troubles and trials are passed;
In silence he suffered, in patience he bore,
Till God called him home to suffer no more.
—Ever remembered by his loving wife Albertine, four sons, daughters-in-law and grandchildren.

Applicants should preferably be from seventeen to nineteen years old, have a good basic education and be physically able to engage in the trade.
No charge will be made for tuition but students will be responsible for their room and board. A subsistence allowance will be given to help the student pay for his room and board. The amount of this allowance will be forty dollars a month for a student whose home is in the training city and fifty-six dollars a month for a student whose home is outside of that area.
Where living accommodation is not available at the school, arrangements will be made with private homes to accommodate students.
Courses will start soon after October 21st, 1957, and will be held in Vancouver. Each course will last about five months.
Application forms can be obtained by writing to the following address:
Director of Apprenticeship
Department of Labour
411 Dunsmuir Street
VANCOUVER 3, B.C.
Please indicate the trade in which you are interested.

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

A "credo for American broadcasters" has been prepared by W. D. Rogers, president of Texas Telecasting Inc., which owns three TV stations. Here are the points, in order.

The first interest you serve is the public's; men are free, and defend this idea but don't flaunt it; make a profit; keep your imagination alive; publicize your station's activities, explain patiently to your critics, practice [illegible]; share what you learn through experience; and "you are invading the privacy of the home when you broadcast, so behave as a guest, not as an intruder."

CHEK-TV might take particular note of point five.

* * *

Weekend Review: At last, a new show that was an instant hit! Gisele MacKenzie was so good in so many ways she made me forgive the CBC for forcing her out of Canada a decade ago . . . A brief look at Dick and the Duchess indicated it was reasonably amusing . . . Club Oasis, however, was pretty poor . . . The big music spectacular, Crescendo, would have been better at 60 instead of 90 minutes. Otherwise, no complaints . . . Channel 5 hasn't explained why the movie "Hamlet" didn't appear.

"Wow! What a cigarette commercial he'd make!"

TV Bits: CBC presents its first major show of the new season tonight as Concert Hour presents a two-hour version of Gounod's "Faust" in French. The Fisher-Gobel show should be good, Red Skelton returns and there are a few decent movies.

The CBC series of 90-minute Canadian-written dramas will begin in this area Oct. 10 with "Seeds of Power," by Arthur Hailey . . CBC announces that the rest of its new shows this season will be Champion, Chez Jacques, Golden Age Playhouse, The Earth and Its People, Music Makers (the present Summertime series) and a series of hour-long dramas sponsored by General Motors.

CBC also will show Wyatt Earp this season . . . Comic Johnny Carson is emceeing the new ABC version of Trust Your Wife. No word from Channel 5 as to when it starts . . . First batch of post-1948 movies to be released to TV from a major studio is expected to come from Warners soon. Financial settlements have been reached with directors, writers and actors, and only musicians are left . . . Republic Studios is about to be sold for $5,000,000, and its post-'48 films will go to TV at that time . . . Russia, which now has 28 TV stations in its single, state run network, plans to boost the figure to 75 stations by 1960.

Daily Astrology

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 1

Today's quotation: "Grecian ladies counted their age from their marriage, not from their birth." Homer.

Tuesday for everyone Follow through on hunches. Practical affairs should be uppermost on your list of activities. Be active, progressive. Complete tasks, solve problems.

Look for Your Birthdate and Birthsign Below.

March 21 to April 19 (Aries) This is a good time to push those matters which concern your work, ambitions or prestige

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus) Your judgment is improved. Make plans or decisions, take necessary trips.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Benefit through the resources of others; add to your savings. Recondition present belongings instead of buying new.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer)—[illegible] more interesting if you work closely with others; they tend to stir you to action.

July 23 to Aug 22 (Leo) Be objective in carrying out your job. Advance the general state of your well-being.

Aug 23 to Sept. 22 (Virgo)—You tend to be in a generous mood. Your popularity will be high now with those whom you love and admire.

Sept 23 to Oct. 22 (Libra)—Get things done at home or in your office for best results. Complete what is under way.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 (Scorpio)—Keep busy and get things done, circulate more freely; dispatch details.

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius)—Finances and belongings take the spotlight. Make prudent progress here; buy or sell.

Dec. 22 to Jan 19 (Capricorn) You are the important person at this time and your interests and attitudes are stressed. Meet situations courageously.

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 (Aquarius) Finish rather than start things; be active; exert ingenuity. You could receive some fortunate tidings

Feb 19 to March 20 (Pisces) Your activity should centre around those things that are associated with friendship. Add to your belongings

Planning ahead—Good for entertaining, sociability, etc.. Oct. 1, evening of 2 3, 9, 13, 14, 17, 18, evening of 19, 20, 21, 24

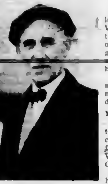
Ex-Sealing Skipper 90

Sailed Here in 1888, Still Going Strong



CAPT. CHARLES HARRIS . . . feeling chipper

By JAMES K. NESBITT

In February of 1888 the sealing schooner Sapphire reached Victoria from Halifax, around the Horn, and that day 20-year old Charlie Harris had his first glimpse of the port where he [illegible] his long life.

Capt. Harris, dapper and smart, bow tie jaunty as ever, marked his 90th birthday Saturday.

YARNS WITH FRIENDS

Every few days he comes to town to shop, to yarn on street corners with old friends of seafaring days long gone, when Victoria was one of the Pacific Coast's most colorful ports.

"Feel pretty chipper for 90," he said the other day. "Just back from Seattle—a change every now and then's good for a young fellow—can't get in a rut."

For some years after his arrival here Charlie Harris skippered sealing schooners on voyages to Bering Sea and the Japan Coast.

EXCITING ERA

He went through one of Port of Victoria's most exciting eras —when sealing schooners anchored all winter in the upper Inner Harbor, and went to sea in spring; when the waterfront was picturesque with the type of skipper Jack London made famous in his "Sea Wolf."

In 1898 Charlie Harris went to the Yukon gold rush, and returning south ran into more excitement. He was a passenger aboard the steamer Islander when she struck an iceberg off Juneau, in August, 1901, with heavy loss of life.

For a number of years after that Charlie Harris captained local tugs and salvage boats and a variety of small craft. He became best known in the years before his retirement 20 years ago as pilot for the American Mail Line.

OUT IN ALL WEATHERS

Every two weeks, Capt. Harris, in weather foul and fair, went out to Race Rocks and there boarded a "President," liner inbound from the Orient, and brought her up to the ocean docks in Victoria. Two weeks later he took her out to the Race again, and waved farewell to her as she started her long haul across the Pacific to Yokohama.

His life has been a good and a full one, and by the look of him he's good for many years yet.

Church 'Digs' Youth

Hymns in Swing Jazz Up Service

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Feet tapped and members of the congregation rocked Sunday to the hot rhythm of church music set to jazz tempos.

"The music tonight is a little unusual," said Rev. A. Gower-Innes of the Church of England.

JUST FIDDLER

Beside the choir was a trap drummer, two guitarists, a hot fiddle player and the church's regular organist, swinging a hymn.

"It is difficult to change the music in church," said the minister, "but if the church is to be alive—then changes must be made."

The experiment took place at the Church of Our Lady of Mercy and St. Thomas of Canterbury.

REPEAT ARRANGED

"It was a tremendous success," the minister said yesterday, "so successful that we are going to do a repeat on Nov. 3."

"I prefer the old-fashioned style of service," said 41-year-old Mrs. Florence Harker. "However, I agree that this does appeal to the younger people and they should be catered for."

The minister said that a number of the older members of the congregation also liked the jazz service.

"The only criticisms I heard," he explained, "and they were not severe ones, were from people in the 40's and early 50's. The young and the old were unanimous in their praise."

Said 73-year-old John White: "I have been used to the intricate and beautiful masses by Haydn and Mozart. However, I liked this one tremendously. It is the music of modern times. There was nothing irreligious about it."

B.C. Extends Battle Against Brucellosis

Agriculture Minister Newton Steacy announced yesterday that the Fraser Valley and lower mainland regions had been established as a brucellosis control area.

"This is probably the most important single step that has been taken to eradicate brucellosis among the cattle herds of B.C.," he said. The minister said it was imperative to take definite steps to control the incidence of brucellosis despite the pasteurization of milk.

Under the latest move vaccination of all heifer calves in the new area becomes compulsory on Nov. 1. On and after June 1, 1958, no female cattle can be offered for sale in the area unless they are acceptable vaccinates or have been negative to a complete test for brucellosis in the previous 30 days.

All areas of the province except central B.C. and the Peace River are now constituted as brucellosis control areas.

Hens Force Army To Alter Food Rule

Defence regulations governing the purchase of food for army and naval units of the Western Command have been temporarily altered because too many Vancouver Island hens have laid too many medium-sized eggs.

Faced with a glut of grade A medium eggs on the Island, the B.C. Federation of Agriculture asked Defence Minister Pearkes to temporarily suspend regulations restricting armed service establishments to the purchase of grade A large eggs.

Mr. Pearkes granted permission for the regulations to be suspended for 60 days, to permit the establishments to buy medium eggs.

Although there have been no similar complaints from other B.C. egg grading stations, it is believed the suspension covers the whole province.

Harold de Lisle Reaney Rites to Be Held Today

Harold de Lisle Reaney, 76, a registrar of the provincial lands office during the Second World War, died in Jubilee Hospital Saturday.

Born in Bradford, Yorkshire, England, Mr. Reaney came to Canada in 1908. He lived in Winnipeg until 1921, when he came to the west coast.

Mr. Reaney was a veteran of the First World War. He worked for a time as a teacher and a draughtsman at Rossland and came to Victoria 23 years ago.

He is survived by his widow, Eva, of 1528 Foul Bay Road, a son, Richard, of Spillimacheen, B.C., a daughter, Barbara Lassfolk, of Sidney, nine grandchildren and a great grandson.

Funeral services will be held from Hayward's funeral home at 3 p.m. today with burial at Royal Oak.

Our Problem Schools

Whose Voice Controls Education?

By R. O. Marrion

20th in a Series

Bitter and angry words have been written and spoken by critics of today's education who view the system as being run by a group of professionals in the department and no one else [illegible] are generally diametrically opposed to those of modern professional educators whether a group of them runs the system or not.

But is it true that the people of B.C. have almost no voice in the operation of the school system?

Is it true that they have so little voice that the whole cost and administration of education might as well be handed over to the department and schools boards dispensed with?

The evidence turned up in study of these questions indicates that the answer can neither a wholehearted "no" nor an unhesitating "yes."

A school board is indeed fettered in some of its most important activities. It is duty bound to provide the facilities for teaching children of 6 to 18 according to a curriculum laid down by the department of education, but in providing the facilities, and especially in exceeding minimum requirements, it must frequently depend on the department for approval.

Control from Above

Its major decision on borrowing and spending money for schools are all subject to amendment from above.

Nor is a board normally the initiator of most local policy and planning. Usually, the "municipal" inspector of schools recommends or suggests policy to the board, the board approves it, and the inspector administers it.

The inspectors in municipal districts are appointed by the [illegible] school board from four or five candidates selected by the department. The inspector's pay comes from the department, supplemented by the board when the inspector is the board's administrative officer.

Relations Good

This is not to suggest that relations between boards and inspectors are less than good and often excellent.

But the inspectors' responsibilities are as much or more to the superintendent of education as to the boards. They are required to advise boards, and to aid the superintendent of education "in carrying out a uniform system of education and generally in giving effect to this (Public Schools) Act and the regulations of the Council of Public Instruction."

Boards do, nevertheless, have powers that are important locally. They hire teachers, largely on the recommendations of the inspectors, it is true, but sometimes they find reasons to disagree and a good staff of teachers obviously is the greatest asset a school district can have.

An inspector and staff might be able to carry out normal operation of the district school system without difficulty. But as far as policy is concerned and the provision of the above-the-minimum facilities and courses, boards of elected representatives have bigger ears for local opinion, and keener eyes for local needs.

They come more into contact with parent-teacher associations, employers and other community groups. [illegible] virtue too.

They speak as a powerful voice in the provincial government as elected representatives combined in the B.C. School Trustees' Association.

But if the boards were reduced to advisory committees, as some proponents of the government taking over the whole cost of education have suggested, the advisory committees' voice might be almost as great.

And if advisory committees perhaps formed by municipal councils were to replace school boards, British Columbians [illegible] in making their voice heard in education.

Through the provincial curriculum advisory committee, with half of its members drawn from outside of the field of education, the people of the province have at least some way of tempering the strictly professional approach to the subject matter taught.

And through their elected members of the Legislative Assembly the people can always say and sometimes command what they want.

Jury Asks Mercy

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Werner Hensel, charged with murder in the shooting death of a lodger at his Kitimat home, was found guilty yesterday on the lesser charge of manslaughter.

An all-male jury, which had been told Hensel shot Franz Lechner when he found the lodger in bed with his wife, returned a not guilty verdict on the murder charge and recommended mercy be shown in his sentence for the lesser offence.

NEW HOME TREATMENT HOLDS HOPE FOR THOSE THREATENED WITH BALDNESS

Many old-fashioned misconceptions about baldness are being discarded these days with the discovery of new and improved methods of treating the hair and scalp, M. D. Harrison Specialist has revealed.

Men who once shrugged off their gradual loss of hair as an unavoidable fact, something they just had to put up with because of heredity, etc., are being shown that there is something they can do about it in all except a small minority of cases.

M. D. HARRISON HAIR AND SCALP SPECIALIST, through his intense research has brought about amazing methods for treating local disorders of the hair and scalp. The promise that this research now holds out to balding men and women is contained in a remarkably effective method of home treatment which can be employed easily by anyone once the examination determines the cause of your individual Hair and Scalp problems.

NEW METHOD DEMONSTRATED IN VICTORIA

The HARRISON method of treatment is being demonstrated this week in this city by the well-known Hair and Scalp Specialist M. D. Harrison, Chief Administrator of the Harrison Hair and Scalp Clinic. His years of experience and skill as an expert on hair and scalp problems has enabled thousands of people doomed to baldness to again enjoy healthier and thicker hair.

M. D. Harrison will be here only two days, and in that time is giving residents of this city the opportunity to have a free examination and advice on their hair and scalp problems. If you are worrying about your hair going instead of growing—and if you haven't let your hair fall out to the "drumhead" stage—chances are M. D. Harrison can suggest a home treatment for your specific needs.

The complete examination which puts you under no obligation will be to the point and frank. We do not accept cases where it appears doubtful results will be obtained. But the chances are 10 to 1 you can be helped.

REASON FOR BALDNESS

There are so many common factors causing hair loss which have been traced down by Hair Specialists and Scientists that today there are very few reasons for anyone to be bald. Usually, the common scalp disorders which cause abnormal hair loss are neglected until the hair is lost irretrievably—where it could have been prevented with timely treatment. Our motto is:

"SAVE YOUR HAIR WHILE YOU STILL HAVE HAIR"

Similarly, recent discoveries have shown that the very nature of our fast paced modern living has quite an effect on the hair. Strange as it seems, nervous tensions and worries can "tighten up" the scalp, cause drying up of the essential sub-scalp tissue which nourishes the hair and results in complete baldness if left unchecked.

The answer for these and many other baldness causes which are unknown to the average person, have been studied in the research laboratories of the Harrison Clinic. The latest discoveries and treatments are now available to you through the easy-to-follow home treatments devised by the Harrison laboratory.

FREE EXAMINATION

If your hair, your personal appearance, your poise and your successful social life are worth a few minutes of your time, it will pay you to visit M. D. Harrison while he is conducting his FREE CLINIC here. You don't even need an appointment. Just drop in any time during the hours the clinic is in progress and ask for your free examination.

You know whether or not you are becoming bald and now you know what to do about it. Visit the HARRISON CLINIC while it is in your city for this limited time.
